

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: How to check when we were denied Ub3r?

Jake???????????????? - November 1, 2017, 11:12 am

I'm currently waiting to apply again and I was wondering if there was any way I could check WHEN I was denied Ub3r. I thought it told me before the site upgrade saying "You last applied:" but I don't see that anymore.

Thank you guys.

Riyu - November 1, 2017, 11:13 am

There's no way to find out.

Michael - November 1, 2017, 11:15 am

Trustscan will be back in a few days according to Omni.
So I guess you'll have to wait till it's back.

snappari2 - November 1, 2017, 11:17 am

Yeah as previous people stated, There will be no way to check until the trustscan is possible again i don't think unless you maybe get Omni or staff to check, Only way i can think of.

Jake???????????????? - November 1, 2017, 11:24 am

Alright, thank you guys for the quick answers. :)

Friedrich Nietzsche - November 1, 2017, 11:34 am

I believe it will show on <https://hackforums.net/ub3rapply.php>

If it says you can apply you probably were denied. If not it will say you have applied and that there are xx applications in queue

.

Elitas - November 2, 2017, 2:09 am

You can check the ub3r application queue. Once it stops telling you the queue number, you should either have an approval PM or you have been denied. Process of elimination really.

TB12 - November 2, 2017, 2:14 am

(Nov 2, 2017 02:09 AM)Elitas Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) You can check the ub3r application queue. Once it stops telling you the queue number, you should either have an approval PM or you have been denied. Process of elimination really.

He knows he was denied, he wants to know when so he knows when he can apply again.

Jake???????????????? - November 2, 2017, 8:10 am

(Nov 2, 2017 02:14 AM)I Want to Die Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) He knows he was denied, he wants to know when so he knows when he can apply again.

Lol the amount of irrelevant replies I got on this thread was astounding. Just wish some people would read the OP instead of spamposting.

Formant - November 2, 2017, 11:32 am

In all honesty, I would wait until all major site changes have been implemented and fixed before you apply for it again. There shouldn't be any rush really and it'll give you time to improve overall, increasing your chances of getting accepted. Applying for the second time right after being denied is probably not the wisest thing to do. Just my 2 cents. Besides, since the sites going under major changes I don't think there's a way unless you got a PM or an email on a specific date. GL

Waiting... - November 2, 2017, 12:32 pm

I think I've seen Omni post before that if you're denied Ub3r, it's deliberate that you don't know when you were denied/when you will be able to re-apply.

Sheeple - November 2, 2017, 1:23 pm

Nope. Just wait those 3 months </3

Elitas - November 2, 2017, 1:45 pm

(Nov 2, 2017 08:10 AM)Disinterested Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Lol the amount of irrelevant replies I got on this thread was astounding. Just wish some people would read the OP instead of spamposting. It can be confusing when the OP sounds completely different.

I'm pretty sure the application page will not let you apply until you meet the requirements (x number of days after last applying). Although, without the trust scan there is no way of knowing when you last applied.

TB12 - November 2, 2017, 7:28 pm

(Nov 2, 2017 01:45 PM)Elitas Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) It can be confusing when the OP sounds completely different.

I'm pretty sure the application page will not let you apply until you meet the requirements (x number of days after last applying). Although, without the trust scan there is no way of knowing when you last applied.

Trust scan doesn't tell you when you applied, Omni has said it's up to the member to take note of when they did. When I first applied I took note so I could apply again when it was 6 months. I was denied again though ?

Elitas - November 3, 2017, 2:09 am

(Nov 2, 2017 07:28 PM)I Want to Die Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Trust scan doesn't tell you when you applied, Omni has said it's up to the member to take note of when they did. When I first applied I took note so I could apply again when it was 6 months. I was denied again though ?

Shit, I guess I assumed there would be a hover-over question mark next to the denied on the trust scan.

I'm forgetting what the trust scan even looks like now haha.

B?ker - November 3, 2017, 4:20 am

(Nov 2, 2017 12:32 PM)Waiting... Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I think I've seen Omni post before that if you're denied Ub3r, it's deliberate that you don't know when you were denied/when you will be able to re-apply.

Probably, but he does send you a pm your Denied I'd assume. However op instead of worrying when you can apply why not try to be quality

Egregious Jr. - November 3, 2017, 4:22 am

(Nov 2, 2017 02:14 AM)I Want to Die Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) He knows he was denied, he wants to know when so he knows when he can apply again.

It's not possible, this is done on purpose.

Omniscient - November 3, 2017, 8:50 am

(Nov 2, 2017 12:32 PM)Waiting... Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I think I've seen Omni post before that if you're denied Ub3r, it's deliberate that you don't know when you were denied/when you will be able to re-apply.

This is correct. I do not provide those dates. You just have to wait to apply again. I suggest when you apply you just add a note to your profile with the date if you really want to know the answer.

Elitas - November 3, 2017, 9:31 am

(Nov 3, 2017 08:50 AM)Omniscient Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) This is correct. I do not provide those dates. You just have to wait to apply again. I suggest when you apply you just add a note to your profile with the date if you really want to know the answer.

That way, when you're looking at their profiles, you can see which users are expecting to get denied and which ones aren't. ?