Thread: Off-site messengers compromised.

Kamiya - November 4, 2017, 7:01 am

Woke up with a text from a couple IRL buddies asking me what I was talking about selling bitcoin at 4am. Not sure what happened, but I still don't have access. I've always urged clients to deal on site and nobody has PM'd me, so I'll take that as good news.

As of now, please only deal with me on site, I am not currently exchanging for anything besides amazon cards, and even then, ONLY ON SITE!

Can't figure out what happened. I apologize. Will update when resolved. I haven't been able to regain access yet. Didn't press on any dumb links, so I'm lost...from what I know, that is all. If anyone gets anything weird please alert me.

Skype : live:ecoinlyfe2
Discord : #HUSKYY8522

Do not deal with or talk to. My HF is secure! 2FA enabled as well as different info.

Yep my buddies showed me the exact same thing down to the letter.

Just please don't deal with me any where but on-site, even when this is fixed. Thanks.

Seems someone lost $80, sadly did not PM me, ugh...hopefully it's a joke as I wasn't told anything until this thread went up.

Not trading!

It's honestly really sad that I did not private message you before dealing because I lost $100 due to my mistake. I will live and learn, never ever will I deal off-site again. I hope you're able to recover all your stolen assets and possibly put things right again. I do believe you're at fault for this loss of mine but again there is no way to tell whether you're lying or genuinely hacked.

Biggy - November 5, 2017, 4:45 am

Seems like someone actually got scammed by it.

Multiple people actually. Gotta secure your accounts man, they're your responsibility.

Hope you get the issues resolved.

Hope you get the issues resolved. I've been told someone was scammed 3 times now. 2 24 hours after report. 1 person, I have never dealt with prior(in thread), another denied to offer any proof, and another not sure about.

Shit shit was secure man. Not quite sure how someone hacked my email. My password isn't something you could guess.

Yes and no, most of these offer a way to call a customer service so social engineering can happen. Regardless it's on the buyer to verify via pm if they don't then they are dumb

I don't want to call anyone dumb. But I made this post literally hours after it happened. Nobody had messaged me. Someone did minutes after I made this thread and wouldn't provide proof...weird....

And then someone did almost 24 hours after being posted. I did my best to warn people and I haven't been able to regain control, yet.

Kamiya - November 7, 2017, 1:27 pm

I'm going to make this very very clear. And I'm going to be posting this to a couple places. There have been supposedly 3 scams.

Overview : I made a thread saying how my skype and discord were compromised. Anyone who dealt with the scammer dealt after this thread came, nothing prior, some a couple days after even.

1. Vitality - You messaged me to sell me $700, keep note I had bought $900 at the same time, I would never take 700 and not 900, not logical. I wouldn't take $1 either though. He said he was going to PM me on discord, I said no, message me here (on HF), because of all my shit. Now, I thought Vitality had seen my thread for some reason, regardless if he did or did not, I said not to message me there but here on HF. He never messaged me on HF...I'm sorry but I literally said not to message me there.

2. Cooljames - Me and cooljames last dealt maybe 3 months ago or so? And then this randomly happens. Although I feel bad, you need to message someone / check their rep, something, before just randomly dealing months later.

3. Huncho / Tommy / 10+ Others - A scammer got scammed. A dude who ripped off others and literally was trying to the day he lost $100 or whatever had not dealt with me in a month +. He had an HF account and failed to message me.

Overall Conclusion : I'm sorry this happened. My shit was secure in my eyes. I wasn't ratted as I don't use a PC. I use mobile, even if that's possible, I don't download shit. Someone pulled off some SE shit is my guess. I'm going to be making it my signature. These are guys I hadn't talked to in months or a guy I told to not message me there as well.

I wish everyone the best in charging back or whatever. But I will leave it at that. You can hate me. Whatever. I'm a legit trader and dealer. Whoever continues trading with me will continue receiving exceptional customer service and care.

This is my last post in the matter. Also, anyone calling me a scammer, should change what they're saying as that is not true at all, and these thread titles are not accurate.

You're a fucking idiot.

Your dumbass didn't PM to confirm with Husky so that's on you.

I did confirm. Are you trying to cover your scammer friend?

It's HIS fault for not securing his own shit and not clarifying what the fuck he was talking about.

Besides, someone has already done a search on him and found out he's a scammer. Go try and cover up your little friend now.

Yeah definitely trying to cover his ass by calling you a fucking idiot!!!

The second HUSKY's account messaged me and had the grammar of a fucking 12 year old I knew it wasn't him.

Let's say the scammer had access to his email for the past 6 months and had access to his reddit account.

This would mean that it was the "real" scammer who is responsible for the reddit report.

But that also means that he's been vulnerable for 6 months without notifying the community about it.

He also mentioned that the email was linked with EVERYTHING, meaning that everything has been compromised for a long time.

2fa is available for Discord now, you should really make use of it.
