Well then if you started to work on it, show us a screenshot you did, watermark it.

Pretty sure most people here are on your side. Correct me if I'm wrong. I have worked with you in the past and you produced some superb work like you have for hundreds of other customers. Never rush a GFX artist.

Well I don't post on this kind of threads but will have to say that you both are pathetic.

You could have solved this easily.

Buyer is a idiot now for not being patient and not accepting your refund.

You on the other hand dont seem too different too me, cant you just show your status offline on Skype and show him a picture of work when you reach home?

But no you decided to argue to make a mess out of it.

Way to go guys.
