For the people who think that it's bad I wanted to close the deal with this memeber:

1st, he wanted to order and we didn't even discuss it and he posted on my thread, I didn't even know why I dealt with him after that.

2nd I kindly took his order and we had a chat about cars, I've began the order in the morning and went away for a whole day (moron expects that I should be only working 24/7)

Then I go online via Phone and find this

Apperantly he has something against foreigners too

How to handle people like that? I didn't give him a deadline. I told that I'll be done as soon as possible.

And only 24 hours have passed since he placed an order.

I don't want to work with people like him and I don't suggest you working with people like him.

The question is, how to handle someone that doesn't even accept a refund?

I've sent him this link before blocking him so that he could PM me his refund address because the stress is not worth communicating with such a client.

///

Please just send me your refund address so we can be done with this.

Invalid scam report if you ask me. He is offering you a refund multiple times meaning he didn't "Scam" you. This is more of a Community alert.

You claimed you didn't want to rush my thread, you claimed twice that you almost had my thread completed and took full advantage of me. You haven't even started my thread and decided to make a CA instead of simply providing me with a screenshot of the progress you claimed. It's not even about the money at this point, look at how disgusting you are. The way you lie and treat your clients, I know you laugh to yourself behind the screen.

I offered to complete it once I'm home, that's how it goes.

When he became stressful calling me names and etc I just don't want to work with him anymore.

How can I deal with someone who doesn't even accept a refund? How is this a scam?

Alessyo - November 4, 2017, 3:18 pm

OP is being a cry baby and clearly in the wrong. Why do you even waste your time with this "scam" report? He asked you several times to refund you, and no, your time wasn't wasted, you were being a prick and did it with your own hand.

Okay, start calming the fuck down. I am not taking sides, but let's start with PM'ing staff to get this moved to a CA.

That's what I was trying to tell him, to calm down. How can someone have a quality deal with a person like this?

Ok sorry mr big shot il just hand the thread over to you.

Anyways, Simaas still waiting on A SIMPLE PRINT SCREEN. (said you were almost done twice, surely its easier to take a screenshot then respond again to this thread). Will GLADLY accept my refund after proof is provided. Clearly i've been fed lies by this guy for the past few days.

This sort of behavior won't get you anywhere, be mature and calm down.

You don't deserve my time. I already deleted all your stuff since it's causing me more stress than money.

I would be happy if you would fix your nerves and calm down. This is not how business is done.

If I said I was away, I was away. I'm not your puppet, I didn't promise you to complete it in a few hours. I clearly wrote that I'll have it done today, what is wrong with you?

I understand if I would have given you a clear deadline with a hour or so, it would be my fault and I always solve that kind of problems since I'm almost usually late.

But you dude are a specific type one, I want to puke when I see messages by you now.

//

I'm not wasting my time anymore, I'm not going to respond to this. Write me your refund address and stop wasting everybody's time with this thread since it's more than pointless.

Sorry to everyone who had to read this bullshit.

And I was not even past the deadline, I'm not sure why he is like this.

Moved to community alert, woops.

Frankey - November 4, 2017, 3:28 pm

Seems like Simaas did nothing wrong, just shows that you are impatient. He offered you a refund, because of obvious reasons.

Now you open a scam report because he did not show proof of making a design for you? Pathetic lol just accept the refund and go spam/irritate another designer.
