Thread: Have you actually listened to Michael Jackson?

sleet - November 5, 2017, 6:38 pm

recently I've been listening to all of his old albums and wow.. this man is an absolute legend. actually taking the time to listen to his music (non-mainstream) is just so pure and original and some of the most real stuff i've ever heard. there isn't any artist like him out there and don't think there ever will be again. some songs that I've been listening to is mostly from his Invincible album and they're just incredible. Unbreakable is one of my favourite songs.

have you actually listened to MJ's non-mainstream songs? what do you think of them?

Minimilist 97 - November 5, 2017, 7:01 pm

If you listen to music produced by a pedophile, does that make you a pedophile?

Well there's a reason why he became famous.

God bless him. There was actually special nails on the floor so that he could do the move where his body is at an angle. Shoes slots into the special nail and tadaa, magic.

wiz - November 24, 2017, 10:28 pm

Honestly, i started listening to him more often when he passed away.

I wish i went to one of his concerts though.

Legend.

His music is ok. Not my favorite, but certainly nowhere as bad as some of the shit out today.

Also, was watching this a couple days ago and thought this was hilarious and uncomfortable...

I'm sure I've heard a good bit of them and not thought twice about it but I've never actually sat down to listen to one of his albums straight through.

I don't listen to him much really but he does have a few really good songs like Billie Jean, smooth criminal, Beat it, Man in the mirror and probably more I don't know about.

get Joy. (Teddy Riley and Mahalia Jackson as Composers)) Recorded by MJ in 1991 but not on the Dangerous album! You get your hands on that, you PM me pronto!!

If you into Vinyl, get old recordings of Michael. Try avoid re-mastered copy. Go to YouTube and listen to Quincy Jones on MJ and the case by Q and evidence on the case given by Music Audiophiler and legend: Michael Fremer (AnalogPlanet Editor). This is in regards to the $30 000 000 lawsuit. Settlement was $9.4 mil. You will understand my vinyl point. I am a music collector and audiophile noob of sorts (bad hobby and full of funny lies!!).
