Thread: RSS Syndication Error

Orchid - November 6, 2017, 8:18 am

So I am trying to add the Eclipse Subforum RSS link into a discord bot, using the provided link that HF gives me, however when I go to add the feed with the bot it says it is invalid and therefor I tried it on a chrome extension RSS Reader and it works.

<https://validator.w3.org/feed/docs/warning/MissingAtomSelfLink.html>

That is the error I get, some help would be nice.

That's a private forum. You can't get the feed that way. Pretty sure any discord bot won't let you get an RSS feed because you have to be logged in to see posts.

Anyways, this is about permissions. Guests can see certain forumdisplay pages but if it's hidden, like in the case of private groups, then it's not going to feed to a bot.

So would SRPP technically work then? And is there anyway to do it with the API?

I don't use Discord so I don't know how their bot functions.

Just logout and view a forum as a guest and see if you get the threadlisting.

It's weird because on the Chrome Extension all the RSS feeds work but on discord they don't.

Hm

Are you logged in with Chrome?

Yea, wonder if that's why? I don't know, hm

The discord bot is probably getting firewalled by cloudflare since it's coming from a remote IP instead of your computer.
