It's now in the Menu Nav under HELP.

Thanks.

Is the wiki going to be updated to match the new theme colors?

There's a Wiki on this website?

Is it useful at all?

Thank you very much Omni!

By the way, The site is looking great and getting better each day.

We have all the staff we need at this time.

The wiki is updated every day or two.

Quick question about the Menu Nav, is it always going to create that black bar at the top by pushing the rest of the page down or do you plan on making it overlap the header eventually? I assume that you will have it overlap later on but that it's not very high on the to-do list with so many changes. But I thought I'd ask as it's come up in a few discussions with others I've had, so I'm sure people are curious.

Read this thread, might have something to do with it.

Any changes made here on hack Forums that Omni is doing to the current theme doesn't affect the wiki page.

The Wiki page is on a completely different server.

However i never really paid any attention to the nav bar before.

Once Omni gets this current theme all running well we might change the wiki theme to match.

If you ever need assistance with that, I'd be more than happy to help the team.

Thanks.

Once again, thank you Omni for adding the link back to the new theme. ?
