Thread: Have I wasted money?

I traded in $3000 in ETH for EOS tokens.

Was this a good investment? Will time tell? Did I fuck up?

Update:

Bought them when they were $0.4 each.

They are now at $8.2

Can i ask why EOS?

Like what made you choose EOS, i'm curious.

Because it went from 0.50 to 1.00.

$3000 is a good amount for investing in companies but EOS doesn't seem too reassuring. I never thought of investing such a large amount in such a short time period. Tho OP, why EOS. Only question I really have.

My mom insisted. I said there was other alternatives, but she told me to stick with HER guts lol

Oh.

OP did you buy at its ATH?

Fortunately I didn't. I bought them earlier, I feel like they are very close to what might seem like the ATL

Scandium - November 30, 2017, 1:21 am

Update:

EOS tokens is at $3 and has been there for a while.

I have earned $6000 so far

EziNet - November 30, 2017, 1:29 am

Pretty good coin long term.

Do you even know what EOS is? EOS doesn't seem reassuring? Dan Larimer has already created two very successful cryptos (bitshares, STEEM) and they're going to have billions from ICO to build their platform. A platform that will compete with ethereum and be simpler for programmers to build dapps on. I don't think this project can be anymore credible. And seeing that ethereum is a 40b market cap and growing you can imagine where eos will be if its a legit competitor. EOS marketcap is only 1.33b now at $2.60

Yeah man. EOS, Tezos, Cardano and Ethereum are all good. One of them will work out :)

Siciliano - November 30, 2017, 4:19 pm

Its not a waste of money, time will tell if you will succeed or fail. Good luck with your investments. ?

istoc2012 - November 30, 2017, 11:37 pm

That seems to be a good investment. But you have to be patient!

Scandium - December 14, 2017, 3:58 am

Update:

EOS are now at $8

Good investment so far.

TempAccountPls - December 14, 2017, 4:00 am

Damn. Nice investment OP!
