Omniscient - November 8, 2017, 9:45 am

I had a car accident last night. Suffered a concussion, bruised ribs, and I have a sore neck. Got a nasty headache and I been nauseous. So I'm not feeling too well. Xray and scans came back good so I don't have any internal injuries. But I'm not feeling well and I'm groggy from pain meds. I won't be able to do much work in the next couple of days.

I was basically t-boned while driving across a street and a speeding car hit me. Area has low visibility for oncoming traffic because of bends on both the right and left.

I'll be ok. Just need a few days to shake this off.

Here is the car I posted pic at IG.

I only ask because I'm curious; What is going to happen to the people who drove into you? Are they being prosecuted/forced to pay for damages?

And don't worry about your car, you'd be amazed at the work some mechanics can do.

Androctonus - November 8, 2017, 12:16 pm

Glad you're ok, wasn't your time. Sucks that insurance-wise it will probably be your fault. I had the same exact accident last year around this time actually believe it or not. Thought it was safe to cross the intersection when I saw headlights in the far distance and when I crossed, the guy was on me in the blink of an eye. You're an incompetent buffoon; just yesterday you 'accidentally' posted a sensitive HF database file on fing pastebin - want the proof? Go and google pastebin.com / aUxrPCc8 and look at the cache from Google - it's nice how you took the time to delete the paste though, cute. At one point you were this person who had some sort of skillset - now you're hopeless. You can't run HF, you don't have the skills and if you continue to do so you will run this community into the ground.

You can't fix basic development related issues on HF. You're developing the site in real-time on a production stack - you and your methodology of development (see midlife crisis related stuff) screams incompetence.

Just because your wife is now a registered doctor and rolling in decent cash doesn't give you the right to run this community into the damn dirt.

Wishing a speedy recovery. I guess you're getting a speedy BAN now.

I believe it's against site policy to dox members and as such; in no way was my initial post a dox.

Banned for what? This site is being run into the ground you fool.

Are we not allowed to discuss how Omniscient's personal life is impacting HF? Is that against the rules? Because his wife is now a registered (technically has been registered for a bit now) general practitioner doctor; -snip-

Want more evidence - look on the buy stickies page where Omniscient frequently updated the traffic HF receives, you don't have to be a fool to know why it hasn't been updated since 2016, lol.

Your criminal record is stained with driving convictions Jesse. For gods sake you were convicted not once but twice with high range alcohol driving in the last 5 years. I can post the proof here if necessary.

You're an incompetent buffoon; just yesterday you 'accidentally' posted a sensitive HF database file on fing pastebin - want the proof? Go and google pastebin.com / aUxrPCc8 and look at the cache from Google - it's nice how you took the time to delete the paste though, cute. At one point you were this person who had some sort of skillset - now you're hopeless. You can't run HF, you don't have the skills and if you continue to do so you will run this community into the ground.

You can't fix basic development related issues on HF. You're developing the site in real-time on a production stack - you and your methodology of development (see midlife crisis related stuff) screams incompetence.

Just because your wife is now a registered doctor and rolling in decent cash doesn't give you the right to run this community into the damn dirt.

Wishing a speedy recovery.

I'd assume that you've previously been banned from the forum as you are able to recall a car crash he had 6 months ago whilst being registered here since November this year.

This is his forum, his creation, you can't decide whether he has the right to "run this community into the damn dirt". Rather than pick at his faults at this time I'd suggest you only wish him a speedy recovery and leave it at that.

It must a really scumbag of a person to kick someone while their down.

Honestly, this man is 1000x more successful then you'll ever be. You couldn't do what he does in a day in your whole life span.

The only thing you're good at, is taking your 15 year old fingers, making another account, and putting a bunch of blabber in a reply that no one in their right mind gives 2 fucks about.

So one last final suggestion, shut the fuck up. Thanks.

You realise HF is only the product of luck and pure greed? Nothing more, nothing less. Omniscient literally started HF, along with a rough 100 or so other forums in different niches whilst working on his game shop in real life and thought that if even one forum was to come to fruition, it'd be worth it for him.

Spare me the glorification of "his creation" because he doesn't see HF for what it is.

He's a retarded buffoon and needs to go.

Really? it seems to me the buffoon can't even debug javascript issues on his own site and has to ask the community to help him out?

If he has any sort of honour, he would sell the site or gift it to someone capable of running it.

If the guy hit and ran, post up his shit - we'll fuck him up real good man.

Hope you and the family are all fine, fuck cars - I refuse to get in one. It's not about how well you drive, all it takes is one fucking asshole on the road to take your life away.

ven0m - November 9, 2017, 3:45 am

Take rest Omni and get well soon. ?

Banned for what? This site is being run into the ground you fool.

Are we not allowed to discuss how Omniscient's personal life is impacting HF? Is that against the rules? Because his wife is now a registered (technically has been registered for a bit now) general practitioner doctor; -snip-

Want more evidence - look on the buy stickies page where Omniscient frequently updated the traffic HF receives, you don't have to be a fool to know why it hasn't been updated since 2016, lol.

Why do you fucking care asshole.

Damn man, that's so sensitive. A file for the tabbed menu's which HF removed with the MyBB update, thus outdated and not even used anymore. Damn. I hope HF survives this.

Yes this site is a 'cash grab' in the sense that it's a business. Just because you want this run as some 100% market niche blackhat palace due to the name doesn't mean shit.

He wants to make money and enjoy life, that's kinda what 99% of people on here want. YOU most likely want to make bank and sit at home without working a physically demanding job like the rest of the world.

@Zylum comments.

1. The "criminal record" he talks about is in Minnesota which is proof it's not me. It's someone in my family that uses my name as an alias to avoid their own convictions. I've never been arrested ever for anything ever. But whatever.

2. My last accident was in February, and yes, that's upsetting to me that within 8 months I've had two accidents when previously I've never had even one in my entire life. Neither incident was related to alcohol. The Mustang crash was related to the rain and while I was driving home from the gym I skid into the curb which broke both axels.

3. "pastebin.com/aUxrPCc8" is one of my plugin files from MyBBCentral.com. It's free to download from MyBBCentral.com and does not contain any sensitive information. Just proof that you're a troll here to libel me. Some of these people are lucky I don't waste my time going after them legally.

4. The rest of the personal attacks don't warrant a response. Obviously you have some vendetta against me and feel it necessary to attack me and my family personally. That's just sad.

In other news I'm feeling better and still have a headache, sore neck, and my back is stiff. I am however not taking any more pain meds and I feel like I should be able to get some work done today and try and catch up.

So please be patient while I continue to work and get to everyones needs.

Sadly it's time to just close this thread. Derailed by a troll but I'll be okay and it's just minor setback for my workload.
