Bondage - November 9, 2017, 8:50 am

I contacted user Kirsty via pm to offer my help in exchanging for him paypal into btc.
User started moking me, calling me a joke and that he wants me to go first. After i declined, he said if i agree to use middleman, i told him yes but i only agreed to do it if minimalist would mm us.
At witch point his scam attempt failed he stopped responding and - neg me.

His msg after he mocked me

After i msged him back

Then he knew his scam attempt failed and....

Tired of you impatient people on this forum. Give people time and just because they refuse a MM

DOESN'T mean they automatically trying to scam.

Not trying to stir things up, but Kirsty contacted me too regarding a Xbox GC. He asked if we should use a MM and I replied with yes, and then I received no reply from him again. Not saying he is a scammer at all, but it seems a little fishy.

SweatShop - November 9, 2017, 9:15 am

Where did he mock you OP? I dont see that in those messages, all I see is him saying he would do a MM, or you go first, and then you snapped on him for no reason.... I dont think he would scam, seems trustworthy based on his words and actions, he didnt do anything shady in those PMs.

Bondage - November 9, 2017, 9:15 am

He calls blackmailing the fact that i offerd him the chance to make things right before i posted this thread.

Bondage - November 14, 2017, 6:04 am

Mad Man - November 15, 2017, 6:33 pm
