Might buy a 9mm just so ammo won't cost so much.

Nice firearm, do you plan on conceal carrying it? It looks compact.

I have a Glock 19 for concealed carry and I recently purchased a H&K VP9 Tactical for range fun.

That sucks, hope you trust your government to protect you at all times!

To OP, what model is it? What's the magazine size?

Gbulla - November 12, 2017, 1:21 pm

That's pretty nice.

I'm looking to get some sort of small pistol in the near-future.

There's also this one semiautomatic I wanted to buy once I get my own place, I forgot what the fuck it's called though.

Also wanna look into getting a KSG-12

I assume you mean from, and from other people with guns. I don't personally just blindly trust in my government to never stab me in the back. You can if you want, but it's not worked out very well for the people in North Korea, China, Venezuela, Russia, Iran, Saudi Arabia, Iraq, Cuba, Egypt, Syria, etc.

Before I bow down to a dictator? %100 yes, I would. I'd use a fucking brick if that's all I could get my hands on. The idea though that a scenario like this would play out as "the government" vs "the people" is kinda retarded. The government is made up of people, all with differing motives and agendas. It's entirely plausible that if some serious shit were to go down parts of the federal government would break off from each other. And, frankly, you'd also have different states taking different sides if something like this was to go down. You'd also have foreign actors getting involved. It really is hard to foresee exactly how something like this would play out, but I know for a fact it's MUCH more difficult to enact a tyranny the more private citizens have firearms.

Angel - November 13, 2017, 3:34 pm

Damn that a cute pistol, wish they were legal in my country but it better stay illegal lol.

Hope to see photos that you took.

Alaska - November 13, 2017, 5:51 pm

These things are such cute little pistols. Nice choice for CC and plinking. I prefer a Glock 23 though, more ammo and with the right holster conceals just as easy. If you're in the market for a concealed carry holster check out Alien Gear. You'll tuck that thing away and nobody will ever know, I'm able to conceal a full size 1911 with target sights and a mag-well using the 3.0 if that says anything.. Oh and with the 3.0 if you get a different pistol to conceal you can send in your shell and get a brand new one for your new pistol as long as they have a mold for it. I'm personally rockin' the shape shift right now but I still have the 3.0
