Feel free to apply for Revolution via User CP.

I'll accept everyone who applies unless I don't like you.

Everyone will be removed on the 28th of this month as that's when the group will be rebranded. Until then, enjoy the SF. ?

RIP Revolution. It was fun while it lasted. It would have definitely been better if it hadn't been locked for 3 months because of Vyrez lol groups like that are for showing off. i mean there is no point in them some sort a secret clan or something bs is all. if you want to share and discuss the information why would you have to create such a stupid stuff you either want to show off or want to gain a social status.

I am only seeing the point in open communities with some rules to follow. I don't mind learning HQ stuff how ever being strict about it and apply the prestige just to satisfy your own social needs is not good and never lasts for that long.

I don't understand what you're trying to convey. I guess English isn't your first language, but despite that, after trying pretty hard to piece together your sentences and logic I cannot remotely understand what you're trying to say and what you're basing your opinions off. There's nothing to discuss in this thread.
