He made a great BTC call.

Please keep in mind I'm not getting a $ cut of this signals group, I'm in the group simply for e-commerce and have no affiliation with the crypto aspect of things, I just follow these calls for my own investments when I want to invest some of my extra money.

DenizZ - November 16, 2017, 1:33 pm

001001000 aka MoneyManeFlare has a lot of knowledge about cryptos. I know that for sure from our time back in a few other groups. I'm pretty sure he can lead you in a proper way into success, especially if you are interested in cryptos.

I'd suggest giving out some trials to members, say a week or two and then you can get some reasonable reviews from HF members. I'll volunteer if you're willing since I have capital.

Coinbase only lets you trade with like 4 coins. Most of the coins that are called are on Bittrex. 00100100 will tell you which price you enter $XXX coin at and where to exit. That is what a call is.

Ok this does looks interesting but I got a couple questions if you dont mind.

Since this is a one time fee how do we know you will not stop sharing signals after a while once people stop joining the group and you aint making more money from new members coming in?

What is your trading background and experience?

There are many telegram private paid groups offering signals as well (with proof of success as well). What makes your group better?

I trade cryptos myself, I will always be making money from my calls so the fact of me not making money from new members doesn't bug me. I am sharing trades with you guys so we earn together.

Do you want digits or what? I have been actively trading cryptos for 10 months, I have always been apart of the HODL game though as I have been accumulating bitcoin since 2015.

Those telegram groups are basically PnD schemes. My group is more HackForums centered, I don't advertise anywhere else. You get invited to my official hack forums group as well. So tell me why you would go with a competitor who is charging $200+ per month who has less to offer? I offer you an exclusive status here on HackForums as well as a guide to making money from crypto trading. Would you rather pay someone and just be apart of their lame discord with crazy monthly fees? Or you can get it all out of the way for a one time monthly payment and get the same or even better results.

I personally started with $250 and worked my way up to $1.5k. 10% is quite a bit to see from an average trade if you make a good one. Sometimes you make 20%, it all depends really. Would you be happy with making $25 on a trade? Keep in mind that you may see some losses as well.

3 of them are not on HF?

So you do all your calls in Telegram or something? If So, what is the point of having an HF group?

Thus far I can report that I've followed two signals and both have been pretty good. Granted, they both were good in bullish times so it might not be a smoking gun, but none the less they are trades that I would not have even considered. I followed both of them with tiny investments ($200 each) and will gradually be increasing my investment in calls. Like I said, I can't say this will turn you into a millionaire overnight but he does seem to make some credible calls that unless you have 18 hrs per day to spend scouring crypto news and signals, you would likely otherwise miss. For the casual trader who doesn't sit and trade all day, it seems pretty simple to invest in the calls, set a limit order for a take-profit and repeat.

Definitely recommend to stay away from the "shared masternode pool". He made a few payouts to some of us and then kept saying he was busy and would get around to it but it has been months since he had made the promised payouts. Definitely didn't recoup my money, thankfully I didn't invest much. If he makes it right at some point I will update but until then, my personal experience is that he doesn't keep his word on the masternode deals.
