Thread: deVoid Theme

Omniscient - November 16, 2017, 6:10 pm

I think I'm going to call this theme "deVoid" since it has no color.

When listening to the critics of the previous theme and also just trying to think what colors I wanted I was thinking of going with a grey scale version of HF.

Changes were rather simple so that's nice but I think it has a huge affect in creating a simpler design. Also I can use the logo by Novica and his holiday logos too.

It's a new change so it may take getting used to but I hope that you give it a chance. My view has always been to allow the beauty of HF to be from the member profiles and thread designs.

There are still some design elements I want to change such as the breadcrumb. I hate how it is. Also I may do more alterations to the font type and sizes.

Obviously tabs are back now too and forum structure was altered accordingly. I feel I fixed 3 major items today. The tabs, the theme, and emails are fixed. I have to look at the close/open plugin soon as I know members want that back asap.

Anyways, use this thread to discuss the theme change. I'll try to be open-minded to the criticism.

Oh, and yes, I did work in a dev environment tweaking the colors before making the changes here.

I like the theme, userbars might need changing, though.

FryPan - November 16, 2017, 6:13 pm

Still miss the old hf to be honest. I like the idea you said of users making it look beautiful instead of it already being nice.

Like a blue, purple, and red theme option that changes the primary colors from gray to whatever theme is selected?

If it's JS based, I would love to help.

I'm wondering the same.

Would be nice if you'd give us this option.

Reminds me a lot of iHydra's "Flat Darkness." I'm just going to continue keeping this plugin enabled.

Aw did I get your panties in that much of a bunch that you're quoting me on threads thinking i speak for everyone?

If you bothered to read the last quote, I said it was simply annoying how most complained because every little thing wasnt to their liking.

Not everyone likes this theme, not many people cared for modern blue. Omni should do what pleases him since its his site in the end.

Copywriter - November 16, 2017, 6:34 pm

Omniscient - November 16, 2017, 6:39 pm

Quote:90+% of users LOVED that modern blue theme.

At first it was very hated. If you give this theme a chance you may like it just as much. Possibly more.

Quote:I don't know why you are so against bringing it back.

Because I stared at that theme for years. Ever think maybe I'm bored with it and feel my website needs a new look?

Quote: like it, it's also relaxing to my eyes. My favorite by far.

That's one of my goals is to have the theme easy on the eyes. I won't really know for 2-3 days imho. It takes hours of regular use to really love or hate a theme properly. You shouldn't judge a site design within 2 minutes. No matter what it's not THAT BAD...it's just fine.

Quote:It is clear that no one has liked the themes Omni has come up with thus far

I designed every HF theme members liked. It's odd to get so much love for all my older designs but anything new is disliked almost immediately.

Quote:do you plan to move the 'post_head' (date,timestamp, post numer) to the top of each post rather than under the userbit?

Tried messing around with that and it really messed up the postbit. I'll have to deal with it in my dev environment one day but for now it's going to stay where it is. Something else for everyone to get used to.

topdog77 - November 16, 2017, 6:40 pm

I really like this new theme, I have to be honest I felt that for whatever reason my threads in virtual games items had severely dropped in traffic like particular sections on the old theme were struggling because the sections were so cramped and it took a good 5-10 seconds for me to learn where the section even was now.(I could also see the views my stickys were getting easily aswell to and they seemed low).

I really really like this new theme, I like the tabs a ton their just so "HF" if that makes any sense, you barely see any other forums out there that are so vast in userbase and the tabs just make browsing so friendly, its so easy to locate things under them I really appreciate you taking the time to listen to feedback and return the tabs back.

I would love to see something added where if you visit a particular section X amount of times or whatever it puts that section name into a new color(just to add a splash of color and making locating ur highly visited sections even easier when browsing).

Mabey like if u visit a section 10+ times it changes to a light blue or something, this is just something I came up on the spot but it would add just a little splash of color without altering the theme itself.

Overall though its excellent and I applaud ur efforts and am glad you listen to feedback, Great job.

That's a horrible argument, and I have yet to see why people use the excuse that "it's his forum and he should implement everything he likes." There's a userbase that is here to provide options and advice for him, but if he doesn't take it, what's the point of requesting feedback? I understand not all opinions are logical, but ones that are, there's no excuse. I understand that Omniscient should be satisfied with HIS website, but he should foremost place his users before himself, it's a very selfless act and shows immense respect to the community. Instead of doing everything to his ideal, why not combine our word and his?

As from what you read from my Feedback thread earlier Im going to say it here:

"Got on HF today and seen the Tabs where back and the theme has been changed to an entirely brand new theme that Im actually digging. Still like Old School better though, but this one is way better than the Modern Blue one. Glad you kept the Old School userbars and stars and applied it to this theme.

The logo from modern blue complements the new theme nicely. Always wanted to see what HF would have looked like with a dark theme."

The only thing I sadly dislike is when you hover over the tabs, they make that not so good looking grey colour, however.. Time will only make people adjust. Personally I think people have just gotten use to the fact on how the old theme looked and can't be arsed with change. However, in the suggestion section there were countless threads on changing how hackforums looked. Instead of being stuck up little pricks give actual feedback on what would look nice and what wouldn't instead of being little fucks.

Omniscient - November 16, 2017, 9:37 pm

I checked the logo and the header nav links and indeed they are centered. It's a bit of an illusion because of how the logo has the icon to the right it makes the text look more left than it really is.

I think I want the logo smaller anyways so I may ask Novica to do a revision.

Text24 - November 16, 2017, 10:52 pm

Not bad at all. Nice work!

One thing I would love changed, though, is the top right of peoples' posts, where it shows their prestige, reputation and whatnot. It's a bit hard to read (especially on mobile, which is what I often use when browsing here). The color of the text is just too close to that of the background. Why not make that text the same text as in posts? I feel that would look a little clearer.

Just it matches the User CP padding on the left.

Quote:I also prefer the User CP being well away from the logout tab. It's gotten me one too many times

The javascript popup message to ask if you're sure is there so that should prevent accidental logout.

Quote:Is this deVoid theme heavily inspired by Flat Darkness?

No it's not. It is inspired by this image:

<https://imgur.com/a/eMdlc>

When I create themes I often see color palettes being used in real life. Once I had created a wonderful MyBB theme based off a Disney ride. The park had decorated the waiting room so well that I took many pictures and then used the color palette they used to create a fantastic theme.

I do wish members trusted me more when it comes to designing HF. And while getting some feedback is nice, it's not so nice to be personally attacked.

Quote:I would prefer flatter looking tabs but overall the theme itself is nice.

More tweaking is likely going to happen.

Quote:I can't actually see any of the categories under the tabs though.

That's odd. Can I get a screenshot? Also try another browser please and clear cache/cookies.
What device and browser do you use?

Quote:Though these buttons when they are hovered with a mouse are kinda off IMO

An intentional effect. Old tabs did the same thing. It's actually the same CSS spacing and position just with a few color alterations.

Quote:Omni thank you for this looks so much better overall and man I'm impressed I didn't think you had it in you.

Isn't that the problem. The lack of faith and confidence in my abilities is disturbing to me.

Quote:but I can't seem to have this theme width scaled as the case was with last theme my 1920x1080p resolution.

I haven't decided what I am going to do with width. It was altered to deal with that damn responsive navigation but now that it's gone I have to decide if I want a smaller fixed width, 80-90%, or what...I will have to mess with it in my developer environment.

Now let's see how long it takes for others to steal my theme for their clone sites which inevitably fail.

Quote:Is the use of personal avatars ever coming back? Just curious.

Interesting...didn't know you got a message about that. Why not upload an avatar since you're Ub3r? But I will work on avatars soon enough. I have to add a gallery plugin and consider the code for remote avatars.

Quote:My only complaints would be to change the colors on thead and tcat (shown below) and to move the postbit date above the author bit.

Not sure I can easily do it. Tried already and it really messes up postbit. Not as simple as just moving it up or down. It's likely going to stay where it is because it's less important to alter it than fix a couple dozen other things.

Quote:Oh, and also remove the text effect when hovering over a tab.

I love hover effects and just like the previous theme I will almost surely add more to the site. I feel on desktop hover effects make all the buttons and links a lot more obvious and pretty. Sadly it's meaningless on mobile though.

But you have to see it from the perspective, if the textbox while replying to someone was also grey, plus the font you wouldn't be able to see shit. I personally love White and Black as a combo, I think they work amazingly well. It's also really easy on the eyes, doesn't hurt too much.

Seems some of these should be blended in more at some point. ?True, I see where you're coming from, but then using what colour? If it was a darker white, like maybe a light grey, people would freak out also complaining that it's... "too grey."

Indeed. That's why I was just asking everyone else's views, maybe it's just me that finds them too white heavy and they don't need to be changed :P

Also, not an immediate issue. Just keeping a discussion going ?

In the event they do need changing, I'm sure we can find color schemes that would blend together nicely.

Shit hurt the eyes after awhile.

No. That was the part of Modern Blue that kept giving me a headache.

(Nov 16, 2017 09:16 PM)Blazin Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Always willing to give new themes a chance. But I will always like the original purple the best. I do like this one but I have been here for 7-8 years. I understand you want to please the user-base the majority of them. Here is hoping the purple one is available to choose from someday in the options. It always seems to remind me of home when I come to this place. Obviously everyone has a different opinion and that's fine. Good work on all the progress so far Omni.

Maybe this new theme will grow on me, it does feel clean and fresh though. I guess I am not good at letting old things go lol Omni told me that would not be an option due to time restraints and keeping both themes problem and bug free. I also do miss Old School HF too.

Omni's quote:

Quote:Because it's an excessive amount of work to run more than one theme and ensuring that each one is working correctly. And while I could do what I did with the Modern Blue and run another color, I'd prefer not to bother doing so as again, my time is extremely limited. So I will not do it.

I'm also considering a new theme created 100% by me.

Kenjataimu - November 17, 2017, 8:20 pm

I really like this theme or at least the direction its going in.

Would be nice to allow members to choose the color scheme, but im not complaining.

Was waiting for iHydra's update on Flat Darkness, but this will do.

Formant - November 18, 2017, 6:18 am

Great job, Omni. This theme is probably my favorite. Solid black and white. Simplicity! Loving it! Thank you!

If we're getting nitpicky here, the only thing I'm not crazy about is the dark shadow when you hover over the tabs. That, and the font used for main categories.

I don't know a whole lot about graphic fonts, but the font used on the main page reminds me a lot of Comic Sans :(

Personally, I'd like to see something more like Verdana. Just my 2 cents.

Keep up the great work! Patience is key here. I'm glad more and more people are starting to realize that this is a long process and not just a simple refresh.

This is an exciting time to be a part of HF.

Royal ! - November 18, 2017, 9:45 am

I am loving this theme to be honest, very easy on eyes. Plus I am loving the fact that you re-added the TABS thingy.

When I create themes I often see color palettes being used in real life. Once I had created a wonderful MyBB theme based off a Disney ride. The park had decorated the waiting room so well that I took many pictures and then used the color palette they used to create a fantastic theme.

I do wish members trusted me more when it comes to designing HF. And while getting some feedback is nice, it's not so nice to be personally attacked.

Hopefully you don't think I was attacking you. I think the theme is great. Thanks for sharing the photo of inspiration. You're doing well. Keep it up.

ZuGgY - November 18, 2017, 2:44 pm

Fucking love dark themes. Much better than the purple and blue modern we had before.

Thank you.

Blazin - November 18, 2017, 4:33 pm

Been using the theme for a few days now. It's grown on me. The darkness matches my dark theme on my browser and desktop. Things seem really easy on the eyes and the tabs are a godsend for them to come back. Only thing I don't like so much is how the "view new posts" and stuff is pushed over to the right instead of the left. It's probably just something I need to get use to.

Can't wait for more changes, it's like Christmas around here. :)

pebsi - November 18, 2017, 5:39 pm

I'm actually hella happy this theme is so minimalistic but it does it's job so well.

Gustav. - November 18, 2017, 5:43 pm

Don't ever change this theme.

trauma - November 18, 2017, 5:45 pm

This theme is so slick. I love it!

iNviZ - November 18, 2017, 5:58 pm

I have already grown to love this theme. Still relaxing to my eyes.

SkullTraill - November 19, 2017, 2:18 am

I like this new theme omni. Good one.

Cooligan - November 19, 2017, 7:36 am

I actually really like the new theme, it's very easy on the eyes which is a huge aspect in themes.

I used to use iHydra's Flat Darkness theme because I've always liked the blacked out look so this works for me.

I still really wish there was an option for the old school theme though in site settings, I've missed that theme ever since it was changed originally.

Datageni - November 20, 2017, 11:18 am

I like this theme as well. Good job.

Too many people didn't like Old School HF and they complained about it while others (like myself) complained about Modern Blue. So Omni decided to create an entirely new theme that in his eyes is minimalistic/dark and to "promote the beauty of HF"

JigglyTits - November 20, 2017, 4:53 pm

I like this design, it's comforting for my eyes.

COR??X - November 21, 2017, 8:55 am

Like this one way more than the old one. Simple and noice

Carl Elias - November 22, 2017, 10:11 pm

I know the theme is still a work in progress, but there are a few things that are just bugging me. I don't know if they are reported, and are simple small things so I don't care if they are fixed, but it just is one of those things that I see every time I visit the page.

<https://hackforums.net/online.php?action=today>

At the very bottom, it says "8,405 Members Were Online Today (1,679 member was invisible)" Shouldn't it be "8,405 Members Were Online Today (1,679 members were invisible)" or "8,405 Members Were Online Today (1,679 were invisible)"??

On the profile pages, where it shows post stats, there is a ")" where it shouldn't be "(Find All Posts) — Post Activity)"

Complain to MyBB.

I love this theme honestly, it's smooth as fuck.. hopefully a purple alternative is added eventually though, if not i wont be bothered.

Vitani - November 23, 2017, 12:45 pm

I am really digging this theme. The only thing that really bothers me is the black pars on both sides of every page.

Not sure if that's intentional or not, but either way it would be really cool if you would consider adding some kind of block like background like the Modern blue and purple had (but this time in grey/black so it fits?)

I like it, very similar to a theme I had a while back actually. Thanks for the update and all the work on the site, seems to have been a hell of a lot of work for the update.
