Thread: Chrome Or Firefox \(New one\)?

cimotA - November 23, 2017, 7:20 am

I have seen the new firefox I dont use firefox that much... I first used IE it was a long time ago and around in 2012 I started using chrome it seemed nice and I like it even now i herd that a lot of people said firefox is better more privacy faster and other stuff... (i have noticed it can pre-load a long video ^^) so im not sure if i want to switch from chrome to FF

The best thing to do OP is to download it and try it for yourself.

If you don't like it just uninstall. I'm using it and haven't stumbled over any problems yet.

Can you list me the pros and cons form your experince with FF?

Blazin - November 24, 2017, 9:19 am

Firefox is fastest right now. It was reprogrammed in rust. (open source programming lang) Do your own research. I don't have time to write out all the reasons why it is better. Check out some of my posts in the web browser section I highlighted a lot there.

For me Firefox os better, but i use opera

Jake???????????????? - November 26, 2017, 9:54 pm

The new firefox is absolutely beautiful.

ocd_eddie - December 14, 2017, 3:40 am

The new Firefox Quantum is great, but I won't to Firefox until the developer tools in Firefox get at least as good as those in Chrome, if not better.

Once firefox gets the chrome extensions I use, then I will switch :)

I tried the new ff on an android tablet and I could use checkboxes, since that's the reason I installed it, I installed an old version of ff and it works great...

I always use Chrome on pc though... I'll probably never go to ff there.

I use both at once because fuck the 50

Lucifer211 - December 14, 2017, 4:10 am

I always open Google Chrome to visit the firefox site and download Mozilla. Because Fuck Google right.

I prefer FireFox, never had issues with it. Plus, the newest version is quite awesome. Still, big fan of it.

Geek143 - December 23, 2017, 10:29 am

For me i love to use chrome, but its slow though....

ftrounce - December 25, 2017, 9:31 pm

The new Firefox Quantum is faster, but I'm just way more used to chrome.

Bru6 - December 27, 2017, 3:01 pm

I use both because chrome have alot bugs

ZuGgY - December 27, 2017, 3:04 pm

"New" version is called Quantum. Firefox Quantum. I like it, but it is a bit buggy for me...some pages fail to load some parts for some reason (words, etc...and don't have the issue with the same extensions and stuff on Chrome Canary)...maybe it's because I use Nightly....but the problem has persisted for a while now...I use both...

I use Firefox and Chrome for different things.

I'd say stick to Google Chrome for general usage. But for more private searching I'd use Mozilla Firefox with some add-ons.

Mistx - December 28, 2017, 9:25 pm

Mozilla is faster and better in my opinion

Chrome takes up too much memory and cpu

rf-harris - January 5, 2018, 3:46 am chrome has improved a lot in the last year or so and I have also switched on to chrome now after using firefox for so many years.

Zoloustich - January 26, 2018, 3:03 pm

Firefox with his new engine more faster than Chrome on some sites for me

Goonew - January 26, 2018, 5:24 pm

Both are good. I use Firefox for certain addons/extensions that Chrome cannot get, but so use to Chrome.

Ooore - January 29, 2018, 11:26 pm

This is why you use the DR is SUPER easy to predict enemy behaviour and movement and has higher damage per second.
