at 150 / 1000 Id get this deal instead.

The AE ammo is brass case, and Ive never had a misfire with it. Ive shot steel case and alluminum case before and had problems. At this same price. (after the rebate and code) I would definitely get AE.

Personally I never had a misfire with tulammo (russian military uses them also from what I hear.), but beretta eats everything but yea I prefer federal ammo is always good. And AE is better then federal champion imo.

I carry HST 147 grains. For self defense so I trust it with my life.

Stock pile that ammo for wshtf. ? Near 100k round on my end of just 9mm have to many 22lr to count.

6 year stock up. I have 10k each of hst and hydro shok the rest is tul ammo basically keeping those 20k for myself and 80k to bargain and trade with.

Look at Venezuela they pay around 150$ dollar for a sand-which since money is useless but bullets arent. :) I try to get as much as i can afford, vacuum seal all my ammo also.
