Leaked Email Checker v2 is the best tool to check if your emails was leaked online. It checks any email against various leaks sites and shows you the results.

As always you can leave your crappy comment here

Well done I am sure that this will help people, as users tend to re-use passwords often.

I don't understand why would you ask for negative reputation or overall reputation at all. Also, why people have stated at their reputation given to you that you had provided infected links in the past? I guess someone must examine this too.

If its clean, then very nice of you. Have a nice day buddy. ?

Can anyone recommend a good website for finding leaked usernames and passwords. I am researching over concerns about an educators of children's double-life (if you will). Thank you in advance for any feedback. I had only found weleakinfo.com , but wondered if there is anything more comprehensive or better.
