Thread: Will my Bitcoin transaction ever confirm with 0.12 fee?

Lukeidiot - December 3, 2017, 6:59 pm

Someone sent me bitcoin on Nov 29, with a network fee of only $0.12

Will my transaction ever confirm?

You should use ConfirmTX !

get ur privet key and use ??electrum wallt then you can send the funds that not conformed , but you have to send them with good fee

I received a transaction with a $0.20 fee. It confirmed overnight. I think you'll be fine, but if it doesn't confirm by tomorrow you could try and accelerate the transaction. Some people on the forums offer this service, or alternatively you can use a site.

what wallet were you using?

if you were using electrum just pay additional fees, else wait

955 days and still not confirmed wow i think i never seen this before scary aswell imagine this happening to a 100k transaction

All you have to do is wait, it'll take it's time but it'll get done, no need to worry. I had to send a transaction out of cryptonator once, and it took ages to arrive. It took a day, but it did arrive in the end, so worry not.
