Long story short... I was offered 20k IE hits worth of traffic for $100.
A couple of days went by and all I got was excuses.
Then he offered me 40k IE hits off his own EK to which I agreed.
Days went past and still nothing - I asked for a refund and get ignored.

Proof: All of the jabber chats were logged so I have days of proof.

I have been more than patient and tried to be as understanding as possible - If you cannot provide a service, don't take money and never deliver it.

Not saying the accused user is legit, but you should post the chat logs / payment proof (redact the URL or any other sensitive/irrelevant info as you may feel fit)

So is it now that time of the day where i'll arrive and post the entire chatlogs of yesterday, without being able to get a hold on you.

We are talking, since Friday. You have not been patient, this thread is a joke, can't be my mistake that you don't reply.

We are several people managing the XMPP or Skype so we are always available and yet you claim, that you reached out to us?

Reply XMPP, where I wrote you or send me a PM. I don't like this at all.

EDIT:

I am still waiting for you, I messaged you a lot of times now that you have to be a little kid who can't contact us.

I still do deals with everyone else and take sales as regular.

Closing dispute - I am too old to deal with crap like this. Already wasted hundreds of dollars on a EK

(go ask rig_exploit_pack) if you want evidence. Good luck to all users. @Omni - You can close this, I'm over it.
