

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: can someone send me the links to some good tutorials or books virgos - December 10, 2017, 8:27 pm i want to learn how to script in python but i dnt really know any good books for beginners id like some assistance plz

TheMarkMan - December 10, 2017, 8:34 pm

Look at the posts at the top of the Python subforum, or read some posts. This is a very commonly asked question virgos - December 11, 2017, 2:48 am ok thanks but im looking for something more indept

TheMarkMan - December 11, 2017, 5:43 am

What counts as more indepth? What do you want to learn about?

virgos - December 11, 2017, 6:29 am mostly malware scripts and tool scripts and scanners

PhantomElite - December 14, 2017, 2:51 am read the python 3 tutorial and supplement that with more beginner focused resources that arent as comprehensive the python 3 tutorial is (fairly) thorough

virgos - December 14, 2017, 5:26 am ive read that already like months ago

TheMarkMan - December 14, 2017, 6:26 am

It sounds like you need to understand more of the theory behind that stuff. Python is just a toolset that people can use to create these kinda of programs. If you want to learn more about malware, scanners, then head over to the hacking section as they can probably explain that stuff better. If you come back here with specific requests like "How do I check if port 420 or 69 is open?" Then we could tell you how to do that stuff with Python.

virgos - December 15, 2017, 3:07 am

thank you hope that helps i need to start so i can apply to some universities