$25 card doesn't even work, it was refunded by the original owner.

I mistakenly didn't check specifics into his reputation until after I had already sent the coin, since I was in a rush needing to get items for an event I'm hosting, I wasn't thinking clearly.

How does somebody have so many open scam reports yet they're still not banned, I do not understand?

Rip my $60

Jesus if you can't trust someone with 700 rep who can you on trust on this forum?

Nebo - December 13, 2017, 9:41 am

Feel bad about your loss OP.

Better luck next time, choose wisely who to trust.

Ammount of positive rep points means nothing if the user scammed someone before..

i would NEVER deal with someone like him

Oh. I just figured out that you can look just at peoples negative rep. I was under the impression you had to scroll through like a hundred pages to see them all.
