Thread: [Blacklist of reported incidents! \[UPDATED\]](#)

Romeos - December 15, 2017, 11:11 am

I am fearly new to this community and I noticed there is alot of fishy things going on when it comes to buying / selling.

People often don't take the time to use a middleman and end up getting scammed or blackmailed. I decided to create a thread that I will keep updated with every single incidents that gets reported in this section so people can quickly get the history of the user they are buying from or selling to.

Reported incidents: (Updated on 12-15-2017)

Awesome post, and here I was thinking you were a shitposter. Well-done.

Edit: I am also not the only one with scam reports open on Rysko, there are a number of other members aswell.

Edit 2: In the odd case some of these can be loyal trusted members, I think you should make a separate section on the thread for members with only 1 report open and multiple report users get the top part of the thread.

This post is a bad idea. Only post in this section if you have a dispute with a specific user and have details.

Thank you for your suggestions, I will keep updating this and go through pages to get the links.

This thread is only to keep a quick track of all the reports in this section. Either if its Resolved or not the buyer/seller can have a clear image of the user in question. (and the details in question are all the reported incidents)

This thread won't help you. If you want to find a scam report use the search function.
