Exactly, just a meer illusion we feed ourselves.

Also who gives a shit about others, care about yourself and only yourself. Why would someone elses feelings make you want to kill yourself fuck them.

Sortiace - December 16, 2017, 12:31 pm fix what you've done, good luck man!

Elitas - December 16, 2017, 1:12 pm

Tell her and she will decide whether or not you're worthy of being with her.

Don't push it, if you try and make her forget it or feel better, the relationship will never last.

She needs to genuinely see you as who you really are and decide on it.

the fact that you care so much that you feel bad for it, makes you better than most of other human beings.. so head up..

Just be honest with it and don't lie to her.. Talk with her and be there if she wants you to..
there's nothing more you can do I guess.

Cagey - December 16, 2017, 2:49 pm

lol you want to kill yourself? How old are you OP 18-19? What did you do post her nudes? Fuck her best friend?

If you did something to hurt her and you didn't think about her you don't love her and you didn't love her you were in love with the idea of love. Don't tell me you told her you want to kill yourself either because honestly I would slap the shit out of you for being a dumbass. If you say you're going to do it you won't, that's that. "THAT'S SO INSENSITIVE OF YOU CAL" I don't give a shit until you have a friend that seems super happy and the next day ends his life I don't wanna hear this garbage about you want to kill yourself for a girl.

So what about your parents? Is their love also a mere illusion they feed themselves?

I understand you guys have been hurt in your life but love is not an illusion, love is something most people live for. Quite being so dense ?

*Live for

*Quit being so dense

Since we're doing grammatical corrections, love is an illusion. We weren't programmed to love, we like every other mammal on this forsaken rock have one purpose in life. To reproduce, everything from your common cold to monkeys all have it hard wired into them.

Love is feeling that is calculated by multiple variables, you can't simply say that it doesn't exist. Animals do have it. Did you ever had a dog as a pet? That animal would love you the moment you take care of it.

By the way love $\neq$ sex

Does it love you or does it see you as something it depends on to survive. You provide it shelter, food and attention all things it needs to survive and stay sane.

ParadoxicalInsanity - December 16, 2017, 4:19 pm

First off, Don't kill yourself. I know that you cared about this girl, but you can make it up to her. Maybe not, but you can do your best and the best thing that you can do for her is not hang it up because of her. Don't you think that you already hurt her enough without killing yourself? I mean killing yourself will only hurt her worse. Even if she is pissed at you I'm sure killing yourself because of her won't make her any happier. I mean I have fucked girls over in the past. I felt like shit about it. I still do for the most part. Best thing you can do for her is grow a pair of balls and fix what you broke. If you can't fix it at least make an effort to clean up the mess.

You can't just make her forget about it. Just be thorough with her and let her decide if she still wants you to be a part of her life. If not, then you fucked up pretty badly.

Sonder - December 16, 2017, 5:18 pm

Admit that you made a mistake and demonstrate to her that your action of breaking her trust really did some impact to you. Don't cry or anything over something as simplistic as that but go out of your way to do what you can to heal her pain in the aforementioned scenario.

JillOk - December 16, 2017, 5:21 pm

You should try talking to the person, and say that you're really sorry and a douchbag... And that you want a new chance. Good luck man! :)

Haroshi [™] - December 16, 2017, 5:23 pm

Give her 20k, that should do the trick ?

Shortcut - December 16, 2017, 5:29 pm

I'm no therapist but the best thing you can do is just to apologize. And not in a non convincing way. When you are apologizing, say it like you mean it.

But then again, it's up to her.

TriHardmonkaS - December 17, 2017, 12:35 pm

No, you shouldn't kill yourself for doing this. It was a mistake and you fucked up, and you shouldn't be excused from it. But it's not worth taking your life for, and you should learn from the mistakes you have made. Good luck. :)

Apologize and do what you can to right your wrongs. If she still isn't happy, you need to let it go. Your feelings will blow this out of proportion. You feel remorse for your actions, that's already indicative of your character. If you grasp onto what you've done it will bleed into other areas of your life. Live is a never ending cycle of learning to let go.

I hurt everybody in my life when I came out as a heroin addict at 16. I lied to everyone and kept getting high. After months of that I was tired of myself. I had to essentially let go of my entire lifestyle. That includes some of my best childhood friends. After getting a year sober I ended up getting high again, and this time I hid it from my boss (who knew I was an addict), my mother and father (I'm their only child so this one really fucked them and I up), my best friends who only wanted the best for me, everybody. Getting honest again had hurt so many people that it's hard to me to put it into words. However, focusing only on the negatives was only going to bring me down again. Instead of putting my happiness into how others felt/thought about me, I decided to put my security into knowing that I was bettering myself as a person (which is harder than it sounds).

Let. It. Go. You are a better person than you are making yourself out to be. A lot of guys would have done this and then fed their stupid little egos with little to no remorse. The difference is you are better than that and his is evidenced by how you feel. Just don't let it drag you down homie. If she isn't feeling better and you have made your amends, then your side of the street is clean. The best thing you can do is free up space for more positive thoughts and actions. Dwelling will only bring you down.

EDIT: Also take this as a life experience that you have learned from. Everyone fucks up, it's part of getting older and learning what works and what doesn't :)
