I know this sounds silly - for most of you it's a small feat. For me - I've never done it (I've always just PKed - bottled - or bought accounts). I've never trained my own. I'm pretty proud right now.

Congratulations, dude. Are you a member already? If you are, move on to some of the easier member quests. Look up on the Wikia which ones are quite easy, short, and give quite some good XP.

The account I'm playing on - was a member before. I've done some of them like MM - lost city. I was a DDS pure. I'm super familiar with the game - I've been playing since beta - I just never got into playing fairly haha. I get bored with questing. I've been playing the account I'm on now on and off for like 3 1/2 years. I just can't afford membs again right now lol.

I just did them not too long ago as well, I had all of them completed then they added two which I wasn't aware of, Corsairs Cove (Bogus quest) and some halloween event quest which was utter bullshit. XD.
