I went first and gave him 5 giftcards since he had a good reputation and once i gave it to them he redeemed them immediately and said " i didnt get the codes" , i cleary sent them to him and he keep telling me bullshit that he didnt get the code , and when i told him " i will resend them to you as a screenshot" he said " pls no :/ , i dont want to type them from screenshot im too lazy " , and i resend them as a message again , and then he said he got them , he contacted support and they said the codes were already redeemed (by him) and he kept calling me a scammer them which is total fake cuz he scammed me , i got all the chat in screenshots too.

/wrists - December 16, 2017, 5:09 pm

1st, that wasn't me. That was my friend.

Second I have proof that you tried to scam him.

/wrists - December 16, 2017, 5:16 pm

I don't really care nor do I care to know. You tried to scam and when it backfired, you made a bunch of bullshit. I was in the call with him the whole time and he said you didn't talk the whole time. Then he said you finally joined the voice call, but still didn't talk because you were hiding some shit.

RedRose12041999 - December 16, 2017, 5:18 pm

Don't you care if your friend is "scammed" ? Or you are just running out of words?

I was talking the whole time once i called you , you unmuted your mic but didnt talk , not even a single word , i repeated myself a hundred times " Hello can you hear me" but still u didnt talk

Also what is the point of "you still didn't talk because you were hiding some shit" ??

all the facts are in my post. sad scammer lol

Woods - December 16, 2017, 5:23 pm

After reading this I have came to the conclusion that @/wrist's friend is at fault.

You can obviously see that OP sent the codes moments before where he "claims" he didn't get them. As we all know that is complete BULLSHIT and was the most sketchy part of this deal. Hi sunshine friend also tried rock play that "already redeemed" card that is old.

@OP, where did you meet his friend? If wrist referred you to him from the start, then this is a planned ordeal and he should be liable for this if his friend doesn't have a HF account.

RedRose12041999 - December 16, 2017, 5:23 pm

Yea sure u send 2 screenshots once our conversation was over and you think anyone will believe you?

/wrists - December 16, 2017, 5:24 pm

I sent the 2 parts of the screenshots that mattered.

Sneakybae - December 16, 2017, 5:25 pm

Do not deal with friends of people, especially when they're not on HF (and when you're putting your ads here). Also since you're new like me and have no REP, people are going to pick on you more and see you as an easy target. Honestly, not sure how this is going to be solved..

OP does seem legit in his ways of typing and even going all the way out to image printing the keys.. However, I think this is a mistake from your side to make such a deal. Now you will know better next time. Sorry for your loss if this is true and you got scammed.

You're saying it yourself.. I mean, he isn't his friend. But yeah that's kind of a sucker punch.

Cagey - December 16, 2017, 5:41 pm

Reading this I can blatantly tell OP was indeed scammed. But I see no proof this was /wrist unless you can show a screenshot of /wrist sending this in via PM

I really don't buy the friend BS honestly even if it was your friend you should be at fault for referring him to OP.

This looks like a legit report to me only because after OP sent code he pulled the biggest scammer trick

"are you gonna send" after it was obviously scammed but yes /wrist is at fault either way unless this is resolved.

/wrist either pay OP back for your friend or tell your friend to pay him back other than that there goes your rep.

PMing OP to get the Screenshots of PMs

Edit: I also wouldn't put this past /wrist to pull something like this he did pretend to be a girl for awhile. I'll link the post if I can find it.

Edit2: PM's for OP sake

This is the funniest one yet.

Where is OP at the wrong in this dispute? I'd like for you to let us know.

Slavoj Žižek - December 16, 2017, 5:56 pm

Arguing this is pointless, call up Amazon and get the details of the individual who redeemed this if you are right.

And that is not /wrists's discord, you should've asked for the HF identity/identity from other forums of the individual you are dealing with before you deal with them, or deal through /wrists and officially make him a part of the deal.

Yeah LoL then, misread. Proof you purchased the giftcard should be more than enough to get them to either refund the giftcard or give you the information of the individual who used it.

Claiming to be a girl. Yes he did assert that he would purchase them, but it is very much possible that /wrists was asking for a friend and didn't feel the need to specify that.

His false assertions regarding his gender has nothing to do with this, you probably lied to your mom or teacher at some point about doing your homework as well.

OP gave his discord /wrist said he gave his friends discord but OP is the one who provided the discord.

/wrist didn't tell OP that he would give his "friend" the information to deal so either way /wrist is at fault for failure to tell OP he gave up his information to deal with someone besides himself while OP was under the impression he was dealing with /wrist.

We asked /wrist to provide proof to post where he said he gave his friends discord and told OP it was his friend and not him and he refuses.

What I'm asking for is really simple. We've established that Redrose gave his Discord ID. If there is a HF PM from /wrists that says something like: "Okay, you'll receive a friend request from fuck#4567." then the case would be concluded in OP's favor; that's all that's needed to prove guilt. However, OP has not summoned that evidence that would unquestionably put /wrists at fault.

No one does that. I've never been told someones discord and then was like "expect a pm from xxx" or vice versa. That doesnt make sense, nor does it ever happen as friend requests notify you and you would easily be able to pick who it is.

Furthermore your argument is invalid because /wrists has never denied that fuck isnt him/his friend. In fact hes said that his "friend". End of story.

People should start doing that then if they're wanting to move offsite for marketplace deals. It's ridiculous to move offsite at all when things can be so easily verified on HF. It will make the burden of proof much easier for the person that gets scammed.

User in question wasn't banned as a result of his thread, you should know that staff don't get involved in disputes. Nothing has been resolved here.

They only intervene when a user admits to scamming, /wrist did not.

Cagey - December 17, 2017, 5:59 pm

Let this die until /wrist is back. Although, I believe he's guilty he should still get the chance to be able to defend himself.

Arthritis does not equate to stupidity.
Spoiler (Click to View)
Time stamp of PM and time of ban should show that he was Perma banned for that exact reason.
lol
Its all fun and games until people get proven that they are talking shit out of their ass. ?

Hypocrisy at it's finest, I presume. At least /wrists never scammed people by selling ebooks, the only allegations against him are yet to be proven.
