Thread: Toys for tots - RS Style

OneHalf - December 18, 2017, 5:37 pm

Hey guys - every year I donate for toys for tots - so I'd like to incorporate the community. How I'm thinking about doing this - if you'd like to donate to me (Say 1M = $1.00) Or if you donate an item worth 10M ($10) I'll donate that amount to toys for tots. If you're interested in helping / joining - just PM me on here and we'll link up in game. The donation will be made on Friday (12/22). I'll post here the total amount of donations as well as my donation.

If you're interested in there program it's HERE

Personally - I'll be donating $150 - why Toy's for tots - my family has a lot of Marines - so I support there program. Any questions feel free to ask.

So basically you're bored of donating for nothing so you want some RSGP along with your goodwill?

Well - if you want to word it like that - or a way for people that wish to donate that may not have the monetary funds - but can in this way - be involved.

and we know you go and donate the amount of money how?

Jake???????????????? - December 18, 2017, 5:45 pm

Are you going to sell the items for real money then donate that money?

Like I said - come Friday - I'll post the payment I make - I'll do it VIA paypal. And if I don't feel free to screen shot these and report me - but really - I'm not looking to scam RS gold - if I wanted to make money - I'd go for real monetary value - not virtual goods lol.

I was debating that - if I sold the GP / items - then used that toward the donation. Depending on the time it'd take to sell - I'd front the money if needed.

" I'd go for real monetary value"

"I was debating that - if I sold the GP / items -"

hope this works out for the best I thought this was going to be a thread where we went around gave randoms Runescape gold and items.

You seem to be misunderstanding - but you're in no way obligated - no one is. I'll still post the donation I make if no one else joins :)

You are a good person; I most likely would donate some if I didn't owe a lot of money still...
