This contest is closed now, Winners are announced!

Introduction:

Superior is the one of the newer groups to be introduced to HackForums and right away, we are starting off with the bang. To summarize what we have achieved since the group has began, we have introduced sectors to group members and each sector will consist of specific tasks designed to help the community. There are sectors ranging from Graphics to Writing, so there is a variety of members in the group, not just to be focused on one aspect of HackForums. To kick off the introduction of the group, we are beginning with a Christmas Giveaway sponsored by our group members who each decided to chip something in. No one was required to chip something in, but it was a very kind and generous thing of them to do. Thank you to all who donated and good luck to everyone entering the giveaway. Let the contests begin!

For those who don't know what Christmas is:

Christmas is to celebrate the birth of Jesus Christ. When Jesus was born 3 wise men and Shepard's of Bethlehem followed one star day and night to bring gifts to Him and to also celebrate the birth. This event is annually held on the 25 of December in several countries around the world almost matching in tradition. Canada, Iceland, Sweden, Kenya, and USA to name a few. The basic understanding of Christmas in modern era today is where children believe that Santa will bring gifts to them if they have been good. In the past, the story was of Santa did not exist and the gifts were brought to celebrate in the name of the Lord. The message provided to us is that Christ came into the world to die for our sins. So, we as followers would not have to pay for them with our own life and to live eternally with the holy father, God. In the traditional event it was positive for those without money as they would share for the true meaning of Christmas. The modern event plays as a positive role in our society today by allowing children to behave appropriately for an exchange of gifts that they would want.
