Hehe...just got a HF couple errors while doing something. I looked at the error log file which is normally 50-100k and it was a 2Gb file. I was like WTF....

Turns out that a lot of members join and set the birthday as January 1st and even though we don't display the birthdays, MyBB still sets a datacache for them.

So it was creating an error today and probably some lag for some members. Sorry about that and all fixed.

Oh btw, don't set your Birthday to Jan 1 anymore. Hehe....

Hopsin - December 31, 2017, 4:34 pm

Since 1/1 is out of the question...collective move for everyone to set their birthday to 4/20?

Pregnancies and birth takes awhile

People are so lazy, they can't be bothered to add their right birth date...

Nice find Omni.

I personally think some don't do it because it's a forum where people are "wanna be hackers" and once they find out any "personal info" about you they try using it against you.

Vitani - January 1, 2018, 12:55 pm

I am actually not even sure why people tend to set/leave their birth date at January 1st. I got like 20+ birthday messages on skype this morning.

Glad it's fixed here though.
