Overview

Security is HackForums.net newest official group, acquired by Divined and is under the management of Divined and myself (AsSaSs@iN). There are several sectors of the Security Team, these include the the malware analysis sector and the the coders sector. Security will act as a hub for experts in these fields to offer formal lessons to members to enhance their knowledge and equip them with the tools to contribute positively to the members of HackForums and the wider web for both unpaid and paid services. We also act as the home and development arena for our original monthly security magazine Authenticate pioneered by The Worker and AsSaSs@iN.

Authenticate Magazine

Authenticate is the first Magazine on Hackforums. It will be publish on a monthly basis under the Security group and will be written and edited by its members.

Authenticate reviews the most important technology and security breach related events that have happened the month of its release. The magazine aims to pack the most up-to-date information in each of the topics it discusses, all written by members that are knowledgeable and skilled in their respectful domains.

What Security Requires from You: Provide original reports once a month of at least 800 words of a high standard.

Weekly check-ins and progress reports.

Meet strict deadlines.

Proficient in written English.

Editors must have impeccable spelling and grammar.

What Security Will Offer You: Avenues to be recognised by larger companies for your contribution to the security industry (separated from HackForums) - resume builder for college students.

A level of notoriety and prestige within the forums and wider security industry.

A group of like minded individuals that you can share and draw knowledge from.

Potential to make a real world difference with your name attached.

A group to foster your passions and interests in a meaningful way.

Preference to admission into other sectors.

Be financially rewarded for the content you produce.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT: Thanks to Divined for supporting this project, without him this would not be possible. Show him some

Position applying for:

Editors and/or Grammar Nazis

What expertise do you offer for this position?

I don't really have any qualifying expertise for this position however I am pretty good with finding errors in a person's writing. I have gotten 90's in all of my english classes throughout high school and two years into college. Moreover, I take time to write and read though what I have written.

Why do you want to join?

I am only here to help with a user's experience on the forum. I believe I am able to contribute to the group by being involved in the creation of high quality threads, essays and reports.

Would you be ready to rewrite the whole article if we think it doesn't meet the standard?

I take my time to read though everything I write. However I am always open to constructive criticism.

Position applying for: Editors/Grammar Nazis

What expertise do you offer for this position? In the era of Writers group, I was responsible for all the sections regarding proofreading. Besides, I have had been offering writing service on Hack Forums where my adage is to offer quality content (plagiarism-free).

Why do you want to join? I reckon, we often learn when we indulge ourselves in the field of learning. It would be a great exaltation to be a part of this group where I'll get a chance to work on my skills while helping the rest of the team.

Would you be ready to rewrite the whole article if we think it doesn't meet the standard? Apparently, as words have the power to influence. Therefore, I'm always ready to offer the best content and rewrite it until it meets the expectation!

Elitas - January 1, 2018, 4:22 am

I'm really excited for this projects. Hoping to see some people with good knowledge of security who reads the news daily to publish regular small articles about different things and they will then be combined together to create this.

Keep the applications coming, AsSaSs@iN is an ambitious dude who will run a great group without a doubt. Best of luck.

device - January 1, 2018, 4:30 am

Thanks for applying guys, keep them rolling in this is going to be an awesome project.

Also thanks to my bud AsSaSs@iN for making this whole thing possible and for helping me out creating this thread.

If you are a tech enthusiast and think about things long-term then you should really apply to join the redaction.

I would apply while this is a new thing as it won't be as simple to join later if Authenticate turn out to be a success.

Good luck to all applicants, I'll be reviewing your applications with AsSaSs@iN and you will be notified in time.

Start thinking about what your subject as the #1 Edition will come out at the end of the month.

And I almost forgot...

Happy new year ;)

Position applying for: Editors/Grammar Nazi

What expertise do you offer for this position? I have been a member of HFNT for months now; I can offer my editing expertise displayed on every single piece I have contributed.

Why do you want to join? I feel that AsSaSs@iN is one of the users that would be able to make a difference in how groups are perceived and I would like to be a part of that. I also enjoy writing in general, so I feel this would be the best fit for me.

Would you be ready to rewrite the whole article if we think it doesn't meet the standard? Naturally.

Either way, best of luck with this whole project AsSaSs@iN. I have high hopes for this.

Position applying for: Website Security

What expertise do you offer for this position? I'm final year of Computer Science (spec. in Ethical Hacking & Programming) and I have few certificates in fields of Penetration Testing, Networking and Programming. I have advanced knowledge in Penetration Testing, using variety of Linux distros (best in Kali) and cryptography. Currently working on my own tool.

Why do you want to join? I'd like to join because this group looks serious and there's a lot of HQ members I can learn from.

Would you be ready to rewrite the whole article if we think it doesn't meet the standard? Sure.

Pronouncer - January 9, 2018, 7:32 pm

It's nice to see this group come about, you're taking the same path my Unofficial group took (secrecy), all about security and teaching it for free, glad to see a group like this. I would apply but busy with university I wish you luck and will be watching closely.

Malware Report:

What expertise do you offer for this position?
At one time i was very active in the WHH section on Hack Forums.
Myself and a few other members formed a Malware Analysis/Malware Removal Course on a different site that trained members the art of Malware Analysis/Malware Removal.

Why do you want to join?
Though my time is mostly working on the HF Wiki on upgrades.
I feel i would have some time each month to add to the Malware Reports

Would you be ready to rewrite the whole article if we think it doesn't meet the standard?
I would have no problems rewriting articles if needed.

Position applying for:

Content Creators and/or Editors/Grammar Nazis

What expertise do you offer for this position?

Like 01001, I too served as an editor, though simultaneously, held the position of a journalist as well. With over 10 articles written for the Hack Forums Wiki, and countless more edited, I also run a successful essay service, that of which yet to succumb to longstanding similar businesses. On top of all of this, I am also an English minor, and could potentially become an English major very soon.

Why do you want to join?

To say the least, it would be an interesting and eyeopening experience. I believe that my love for literature, paired with the interest I hold in technology/software could prove most beneficial to sculpt my knowledge furthermore.

Would you be ready to rewrite the whole article if we think it doesn't meet the standard?'

Yes, if requested.

Thanks for applying to the Security group - Authenticate Magazine. We are still looking for Content Creators, what section/topic are you interested to write in ?

Don Vito Corleone - January 17, 2018, 7:36 am

Position applying for: Crypto Currency Reporter

What expertise do you offer for this position?

I have been trading and investing in cryptocurrencies for about 8 months now. Before these months I had been watching the market for a couple months, which basically means I was learning when to buy and when to sell cryptos.

Besides the technical reasons I really like reading about cryptocurrencies daily. I also have worked as a reporter before at a small paper that was being sold at my university (not crypto related).

Why do you want to join?

I want to join Security because I believe I am in possession of the skills that are necessary to fill this position and of course because of the financial rewards we as reporters get for the content we produce.

Would you be ready to rewrite the whole article if we think it doesn't meet the standard?

If the person that thinks my article doesn't meet the standard is actually active in the crypto world and provides some reasoning behind his/her decision then it would not be a problem at all.
