

Forum: Hack Forums

Thread: im a beginner can you get me into hacking

i dont howl - January 2, 2018, 3:03 am

hi there i want to get into hacking what i want to learn is virus development encryption and information gathering im already experienced in programming languages like c/c++ php and python

SysAdmin - January 2, 2018, 5:45 am

<https://hackforums.net/search.php>

Tons of tutorials on all of the threads you've just wrote, look them up, don't be lazy.

[BLANK] - January 2, 2018, 7:45 am

Learn the .NET framework, how to build programs that interact with it, find a zero day exploit and write your own undetectable virus. Then you can sell it here and makes loads of money.

If you do have a good programming background I recommend "The Art of Exploitation" and if you want to delve deeper with viruses then you should start with learning malware analysis. by analyzing viruses in the wild you can learn how they work and how they are coded.

Not sure why you want to learn how to make viruses, they are essentially useless unless you want to do black hat stuff.

Pronouncer - January 2, 2018, 7:47 am

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5676945>

There ya go buddy