Damn, that's really insane. Any particular reason for investing into those coins at that time?

I have a family member who has something to do with Bitcoin when it started(No, not a co-owner, I will keep his position enclosed for reasons)

So after I invested into that I did research into other crypto currency exchange, from there I knew I could make a profit.

It was just about selling/buying at the right time.

Congrats on these gains man, that's pretty huge. Kinda should've kept that ETH and sold it now, as it's $1k+ atm. But those are some impressive gains

Congratulations my man. That's a life changing amount IMO. Enough to buy a house and a nice car right there. No financial worries from a mortgage etc.

If I hadn't have rage cashed out all my alts when my Sia dropped heavy, I would be in the same boat as you. I have put £10k back in to crypto in the hopes of getting a nice payout that will help me in my future life. It's money I earnt from bitcoin so no biggie if I lose it but you gotta be in it to win it!
