i get daily new bots with windows 10 with #.

can you make a native miner pass in runtime with kaspersky?
since the FREE version you had, never bypass in runtime (kaspersky). :(

yes you can do unlimited crypts as long as your license is active.

I vouch for mehtevass. This is the best crypter in hf. Long time fud (couple weeks), not hours as are the rest here. There are some features which have to add(like a icon changer and injection in some process), but it happens with time. I had problem with avast on beta version, and the problem was in netwire host file. It's very important what you crypt, do not judge the product because of your mistakes.

I am not bashing your product i am just saying the aproach is prone to bypassing and it is hard to make one that isn't I understand that . You are good for little insight but for real proof crypters should provide actual proof along side your scan.

There is clearly a runtime scan posted in the original thread. And if "everyone" wanted to know if runtime was detected, they easily could have checked themself. They had free access to it for a long time on top of the runtime scan shown. This is also 15 dollars, what do you expect? A block of gold with it?

I have tested Avast when it was in beta mode.

My netwire is crypted with fuckav and Avira and most av don't detect him in runtime. The only way to detect him is if someone upload the file in virustotal or other distributed av scanner. But you can fix this by recrypt and changing icon.

(Jan 19, 2018 08:02 PM)toplapbiz Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) so shall i proceed with purchase for avira runtime bypass?Avira is a hard one to bypass when it comes to their heuristic cloud scanner that will be triggered when executables are downloaded from the Internet. I am not quite sure if FuckAV bypasses this, and if it does, it won't last for long because they will analyze the sample and start flagging any other files with the same behavioral patterns and/or code in the future. Honeypots will definately bother during the analysis...

ive had some issues with some other crypters here- paid ones at that. Im 2 deep now, and one of them continues to crash upon installation, and the other crypts a file, but doesnt actually produce the file- it spits out a .exe file, but the file wont even open.

Im trying to crypt #, I want to be able to administer it via email TO MYSELF, for educational purposes- but i cant even upload it to send. If I where to get this crypter- would it work with #- and is there active support- because the other two providers have dissapeared when I began asking for help.

use relocation in #, also I'm pretty sure that normal mail servers block.exe files, just zip it up.

So my dear,

As I see you have not read the thread properly, so I repeat the whole for you again.

The thread never said that your stub will ALWAYS be 100% FUD. The programmer has even provided a picture of the last scan, where it is clear that the Crypter is not 100% FUD at the moment. If your stub is not FUD, then consider using another RAT.

There is no Crypter on Hackforums that is FUD! You should be happy with what you have. Nobody likes sales thrashing.

Deal with caution. I paid for the crypter, and my subscription lasts until June 29th. The website is down, the user disabled his account here and won't respond on discord. The admins won't give you info on discord, and if you dare to question what the fuck is going on, they outright ban you from Discord.

And i just paid for a crypter the next day, the site went offline and i can't write to the support again. They literally banned me when I tried to question whats going on. One of the people there (a mod i think) said that SexyCatGirls (the creator's discord name lol) was facing problems in real life. They also said everyone who lost time when the crypter was offline will be compensated with more days. I think its a scam. Regardless of what is going on, someone must make a statement, but then again trying to reason with 13 year olds is futile effort.
