Now let us move into the discussion.

1. Does anyone have experience with JSEcoin? I would imagine that HF already has members that have been looking into this java designed mining system that is intended primarily for webmasters.
2. What are your thoughts on the future of JSEcoin? It seems as though this is definitely not a scam, but does that mean that it will be successful? Not necessarily. From what I can see this is a very unique coin and it is almost impossible to determine the success for 2018 and onward.
3. [To those who already have JSECoin] what function does the "start browsing" button under the mining tab serve? Also, is this exclusively for webmasters with traffic?

I stumbled upon JSEcoin because I am oprimarily using my Chromebook at home right now. Since mining cannot be done on a chromebook I decided to think outside the box. I stumbled across an article that lead me to JSEcoin.

Question is, did I stumble on future gold, a waste of time, or a few free packs of cigarettes during the year?
