There is this wire poking out of my bed and I jabbed my leg accidentally into it and its a really rusted and dirty wire and now my leg is hot
Am I going to die

NGMA - January 13, 2018, 9:32 pm

Thanks for coming to your trusted internet doctors

Yes u dead. Aids gon getcha

?BowmanBot? - January 13, 2018, 9:33 pm

Are you up to date with your tetanus shots? If so you should be fine. Otherwise just check in with your family doctor. You will not die unless the wound gets infected and you just leave it.

oRequiem - January 13, 2018, 9:33 pm

I don't think this is the place to ask a question like that lol.
Go to the hospital or go to a doctor.

But we all have PHD's in medical science and give the best advice you could ever get??!

Seriously just talk to your doctor.

Then thoroughly clean it (rubbing alcohol not peroxide) and use some antibiotic ointment and a bandage.

CyberStrike - January 13, 2018, 11:25 pm

Oh boy tetanus I hate to say it but go to the hospital dude, although the shot really does suck it's better than getting that shit, esp with rust on it oh man.

I graduated from HF Medicine University in 2014. My thesis was so great Omni had to -10 so the other users could have a chance.

My HF reps senses are tingling and they tell that you're fucked.

Thornzzz - January 14, 2018, 6:52 am

You better go get your lockjaw shot buddy.

lucky. - January 14, 2018, 7:46 am

Well from my experience of jabbing my leg with really rusted and dirty wires, it usually feels hot afterwards. Also some pain.

If you've had your tetanus shot you're probably fine as long as you clean the wound, otherwise clean it anyway and wait until you either die or don't I'm not a doctor.

JELLY?IsH - January 14, 2018, 7:47 am

Just go to the hospital and take a tetanus shot, you'll be fine.

Gbull - January 14, 2018, 9:25 am lol i've gotten poked by one of those before tbh OP you should've dumped alcohol on your cut right away hopefully its not infected though.

Like Bowman said, go get a tetanus shot and your fine..

Ive jabbed myself with tons of rusty shit over the years, usually nails. First thing my mom did was drag my ass to the hospital to get a shot.

I always hated it, like Ive already stabbed myself once today, now I gotta go get a needle too.

There is a good chance of tetanus infection. You should see a doctor as soon as possible.

Kaiba Corp - March 7, 2018, 9:36 am

Seriously though do go to the hospital, they will check you, give the anti-thetanis vaccine if you don't had it done yet and probably some antibiotics if it's already swollen.

My best advice just rub some dirt in it you'll be fine.

(Hope its not tetanus)

You should have gone to a doctor the moment it happened. But you're still here now so I assume everything was ok.

SIM-403479 - March 7, 2018, 11:23 am

No diseases unless your bed was previously owned by junkies.

Renowned - March 7, 2018, 12:24 pm

OP I'm really sorry mate but you're gonna have to cut your leg off, but it's okay. If once you've cut it off you rub the rusty end over the wound you'll be cured. That's how it works.

I wonder why people think it's appropriate to ask an internet forum instead of asking someone qualified, such as a doctor. Hmph.

Pre-eminent - March 7, 2018, 12:43 pm

Go to the doctor. The only answers you will find online will lead you to think that you've got cancer, aids and 200 other diseases.

Did you make sure the wound had some kind of anti bacterial pores into it?

I am a certified internet doctor. You have 2 weeks to live before you turn purple and die a painful death.

V?rt - March 7, 2018, 4:15 pm

Give it like a week or so and if there are still side effects go to the doctor. That's what I would do at least. Unless you die first of course.

Positive - March 7, 2018, 7:25 pm

All I can say is... tetanus shot.
You don't want to lose your limbs.

Punisher - March 7, 2018, 7:32 pm

If it starts to turn red, and then later greenish with a little white pus coming out, then that's perfectly normal - that means it's healing.

Simply put some fresh dirt on the wound site to seal it up nice and good.

Well I guess he could craft some oxygen-activated chlorine bandages to sanitize the wound site and kill the infection.

Materials:

- Half cup of Bleach
- A bowl
- Paper towels
- 1 cup of HOT water
- Half cup of household ammonia
- A straw
- A lemon

Step 1: Slice the lemon into pieces, place them in the bowl

Step 2: Pour the HOT water onto the lemon pieces

Step 3: Next, pour the half cup of bleach into the bowl

Step 4: Then, grab the ammonia and mix half a cup into the bowl

Step 5: Mix the bowl up well, then grab your straw

Step 6: Activate the mixture by oxygenating it.

Step 7: Blow into the straw to bubble the mixture in the bowl.

Step 8: Soak up the mixture with the paper towels

Step 9: Wrap your new oxygen-activated chlorine bandages on the wound site.

Step 10: Enjoy your new infection killing bandage!
