Thread: Canadian man arrested for operating leakedsource.com

minimalist - January 15, 2018, 12:43 pm

Read this in the news today. A fellow Canuck and GTA resident caught by the mounties...small world.

I'm not surprised to be honest, I didn't know it was a Canadian running leakedsource.com though.

Trafficking in identity information.

Unauthorized use of a computer.

Mischief to data.

Possession of property obtained by crime.

Geez but it's so legal because it's public data right???? internet entrepreneur genius??

I didn't know this site was came from here. Shit. I've bought their service if I'm not wrong.
Thanks for the update, sir. :)

Dude lived close enough I could have walked to him. lol

M?xim - January 16, 2018, 10:49 am

$300,000 in profits. Well done. I hope that he'll get out of it with minor loss.

@Armada u two would prob have things in common. Go knock on the dode when he's out.

Just hope he saved some of that money and they have not seized it all on him, those legal bills are gonna kill him. lol edit: censored on here. oops.

I can't say I'm surprised. Is that the guy who owned # too?

Pyrotechnics - January 19, 2018, 11:47 am

I remember them closing this site down for awhile. However If I'm not mistaken Leakedsource.com, is now Leakedsource.ru i thought that was a scam version?

Vitani - January 19, 2018, 4:21 pm

It must suck to be that guy. Yes you made over 300k with your project but all the legal bills will eat that profit faster then fast.

Pyrotechnics - January 19, 2018, 6:00 pm

I've actually used the leakedsource.ru database and it works, so I have no clue.

I noticed it his a lot of false-positives.

Almost any lookup leads to a result in the R2Games DB for example, but when I go trough the verified dump I never get results.

its what we all sign up for and we love it!

Er the posibility of a false-positive in a normal DBMS search is pretty slim, there's two different breaches of R2Games, Mr. Intelligence Expert.

Mr. Robot - January 22, 2018, 7:56 am

It's crazy how long it took them to find him, owners of weleakinfo and abuse are well known... all they have to do is ask.

dangerzhere - January 29, 2018, 2:09 pm

Didn't he simply scrape already available info? Or was he charging people for it? I remember when he got busted a while back... hope he has a good lawyer!

He offered a service to search through stolen information, which aided people in committing crimes..

I also know all the owners of weleakinfo. Some work for authorities in USA but have nothing to do with feds. They're good at what they do and are making a shit ton $$$$. One of the owners you can't contact anymore, only certain people have his details, however, I believe he's been raided in the past for something else.
