How long you've been into Anime/Manga?:

I first started watching anime when I was in 6th grade. I found the original DragonBall Z episodes on youtube and ever since then I have been watching different shows.

What's your favorite anime?:

Clannad is simply the best anime I have ever seen, it has completely changed my view of life which I would not except an anime series to do. The story is long and well made. The characters are pretty original and the artwork is good, (the music if amazing) At the beginning the series is extremely boring but when "shit hits the fan" then shit will hit the fucking fan and when I say it I mean it. During the time I was watching after story the only thing in my mind was the series, even if I was outside in the public. Even to this day I think about the series nearly daily and how good it was. I dont want to reveal anything about the plot because it is extremely good. If you have not seen the show I will honestly recommend watching it.

Here are my other favorites if you feel like reading.

Spoiler (Click to View)

Chivalry of a failed knight.

This has to be the best romance comedy anime I have ever seen in a long time. It delivers everything a person who like romcom animes. The story kicks off pretty easily which I like a lot. Both of the main characters are special in their own way with their own skills and tactics. On the list which I keep track of my shows this is on the top three. The ending in the anime leaves you extremely satisfied because you get to witness what he accomplishes against all the odds..

Orange

I like this anime a lot, it delivers most of the things that a person would like to see in a romance anime. The story is very well told and you are on the edge of your seat for most of the time while trying to tell the characters what to do in the situation that they are in. The anime might seem a bit boring at some times however if you can stand couple minutes of boringness you will get rewarded with an amazing story.

What's your favorite manga?:

I have only read the first 5 books of Naruto. So I guess Naruto?

How long you've been into Anime/Manga?:

I've been into anime ever since I started watching Death Note (literally my first anime in High School) and got addicted so I ended up watching and marathoning a lot of anime series ranging from SAO, Mirai Nikki, very long series such as Naruto, Fairy Tale, and so much more the list can go on for a while. As for manga, I didn't get into it until I started watching more recent anime like Shingeki no Kyoujin and not impatient of waiting for episodes to come out... I just ended up reading the manga which I can tell you, so much better than having to wait to watch it. I hate cliff hangers, so manga really saved me a lot of time and made me excited to continue reading instead of watching.

What's your favorite anime?:

Hands down probably SAO since I'm into romance type of anime (well not anymore but used to).

What's your favorite manga?:

Shingeki no Kyoujin (even though it's more of a popular anime series now), Akame ga Kiri!, One Punch Man, Nisekoi (I'M IN LOVE WITH THIS!!!!) and Shokugeki no Soma for now. I still have a lot to read that I haven't gotten to because of the current series I am reading that are so damn.. long.. lol.

OPTIONAL: Your MAL profile or other listing profile?:

N/A but will probably make one later.
