DHGate is good for finding fake shit, although quality and sizing is largely unpredictable.

Yeah, I've done a Taobao haul in the past with help from /r/FashionReps. Used Superbuy and got all my stuff pretty quickly. Only like one of the 4 shirts I ordered actually fit me.

Cool, i only rep real brands though, but it's a great site for finding 1:1 replicas.

You should try looking at www.topman.com for some affordable street-wear type clothing. They're usually pretty quality; I see this brand at Nordstrom all the time.

For jeans, I hear www.mnml.la is a right place.
