I only wear helmets when I go to sleep.
I'm a heavy sleeper.

Personally I will never wear a helmet..
I've been skateboarding most of my life (12+ years)..

Sometimes I'm told to wear a helmet..
3 times in my life, I'll be in the middle of a trick and I will COMPLETELY lose my balance..
All these times I was wearing a helmet..
And this is 100% not normal..

I'm quite tall and light..
That extra weight on my head makes me more top-heavy..
Helmets are not for me..

yes, always. As a kid, I never did though.

Just had an accident around 2 weeks ago where my head hit the ground pretty hard, and thanks to my helmet there was no injury whatsoever other than a broken collarbone
