Thread: \$1200 budget for a productivity laptop - Used Macbook Pro 2015 or Windows?

So apparently my old laptop died and I need a new one, since I already have a beast PC for gaming I want the laptops sole purpose to be productivity, the only reason that I am considering the macbook is because of its minimalist design and it runs mac os meaning that its easier for me to do pentesting on it rather than on a PC with the terminal and all (Note that I have tried Ubuntu on windows 10 but its not the same experience)

The main work that i'll be doing on it is mostly web hacking, pentesting, video editing and some GFX on photoshop as well, now I could either buy a used macbook pro 2015 or a windows laptop, please recommend me the better option and I do not want to game on the laptop. I am considering future-proofing as a criteria for the laptop and I would like it to last me around 5+ years maybe.

Thanks HF! ?

I couldn't imagine working on MAC and I make living off the Internet.

It's not that bad, I've used both.
