By default MyBB supports repping a user with reference to a specific post. HF doesn't like this feature and it is not supported here. However, since the MyBB 1.8.X update, some things like that will be showing and mean literally nothing to us here.

Idk I feel like requiring a specific post to rep would be kinda handy though it would suck when you just wanna rep someone just because, but it could make it really easy to tell if someone just literally farmed all their rep when judging users, or being able to filter rep so you could filter out everything but marketplace based reputation.
