Thread: Implement crypto logos to be used on the forums

JeremyBTC - January 22, 2018, 9:16 pm

The forum supports cryptos very heavily, but we still have to type BTC/LTC/ETH in our posts/titles. I think that at the least, these three should have buttons to click that instantly deploy a logo or symbol for the coin. They could be added to the set of smilies using the codes :bitcoin:, :ethereum:, etc. I would also suggest that they be added to titles. "$" is allowed in titles but there's nothing for Bitcoin

I can support this! This is a good idea!

Not sure how this is a site benefit seeing icons in thread titles for this. I think it would look messy even if the concept is "cool".

They don't need to be too fancy. They are simply symbols, the same way we use (@, !, $). Bitcoin's could be simple, a B with a line through it here and there. The first one that comes up on Google is B. I personally prefer the first one here: https://en.bitcoin.it/wiki/Bitcoin_symbol . Litecoin has L. I think the crypto symbols are pretty simplistic and would blend in pretty well. That is, for the largest coins.

I agree. I think if there was a way to limit them to just being used posts, it would look nice tho.

Then again I don't think I've used a myBB emoticon in over a year so who knows if it's worth the trouble of adding Nah this is dumb, too much effort to import to thread titles.

But if you're suggesting a new smiley, then I guess that's up for debate, but it could make the smiley list look messy, IDK..

Wouldn't the terms BTC/LTC/ETH also provide better SEO than the logos? I do agree with everyone else on it looking messy though, think of the marketplace tags but in the titles all over the place.

Meh, I mean all it would be is a simple B or L, in fact an entire picture or gif would not make sense as that would look messy. But the Bitcoin B and Litecoin L wouldn't be too bad would it?

I believe a minimalistic style MyBB emoticons would be suitable for posts.

g0han - January 23, 2018, 1:02 pm

Custom smilies would be cool, agree that thread titles would look cluttered though

Code [btc]Address[/btc]

[ltc]Address[/ltc]

Bitcoin: Address

LiteCoin: Address

Thats for addresses though, and I'd say the majority of people here use web wallets and not desktop wallets. If I do [btc] it doesn't show the logo also Gonna bump this. Keep it explicitly for posts/threads, not titles. Titles would be messy.

Sixen+ - November 7, 2018, 8:36 pm

I think it's not a bad idea, I just don't know how important it is.

Aussie - November 7, 2018, 9:26 pm

Agreed smilies for cryptos would be nice, although in thread titles it wouldn't be well received simply because it's just odd.

Nate - November 8, 2018, 12:36 am

I'm not even familiar with all the logos, I feel like the text does just fine to be honest with ya.

Although it would make the forum more appealing, but I assume it would also slow down some pages, especially if people decide to abuse the feature.

Imagine listing a thread title with a BTC icon, and seeing LTC and BTC all over the 'View new' page.

Did you not read what I just said. We can leave it out of titles.
