Thread: Need a new leader for Security

Divined - January 23, 2018, 11:35 am

Assass@in decided to just step out without PMing me anything so I need someone to take his place.

I want someone who's able to lead the group in the direction it was already headed and help people out in the WH section as well as continue the magazine.

PM me if you're serious about this and want to lead a group like Security.

Unfortunately I'm a noob in security..

But

I can recommend Aura! You check his profil

Believe Aura already said he wasn't interested in running it.

Not sure who could replace Assass

Currently in my second year as a cyber security major but I doubt I would be able to help other than virus removal.

Same, im currently in second year IT Security / Management.

Although im not sure if i can commit hours into the group.

I might know some people for this but it depends what the group was trying to accomplish inside the subforum. I'm sure there are a lot of people on HF and other forums that could help with MRT and I think I know where I could find them. Same with the magazine, if I saw a rough copy of the sections I could help with it.

Sigma - January 23, 2018, 12:57 pm

I have a 4-year degree in Information Systems as well as 6 years experience in virus analysis/removal. If you need someone to step in for time being, I am sure I can do it. I have a lot I could share with the group to.

Hey Soulmate, I'm in charge of Authenticate Magazine by Security. If you want to contribute feel free to post your application here: <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5777395>

Thanks for your interest.

I wonder if he meant to selfban?

He keeps trying to log back in.

Status: Online (Logging In @ 11:48 AM)

He makes no sense. He says he doesn't trust me but I trusted him with a whole group and he upped and left.

He'll be staying gone, according to what he said, I know that for sure.

Vitani - January 24, 2018, 4:41 am

I'll send you a PM later today regarding this. A group with a focus on security is most likely right up my alley so maybe we can work something out!

Good luck with finding someone that has the relevant skillset, you will need it. Most members on here are all talk.

Only if an old timer would step up.

The Skill set is not the problem.

The issue is time it takes to be very dedicated in the WHH section.

I was very active at one time in the WHH section However times change and some move up in the community.

This being said, There are some very good and very well qualified Security members here on Hack Forums.

The question is, Do they have the time?

T3h Hack3r - January 25, 2018, 5:07 am

I would love to help. However I'm at the point where I'm working Full Time as a Penetration Tester/Security Consultant and don't have the time to dedicate to hackforums like I once did. Clients take up a large fraction of my time. Paradoxum is busy IRL. :)

Grim - January 25, 2018, 12:35 pm

Looks like a great opportunity for someone to take. Hopefully someone deserving of it takes the leadership spot.

Vibe - January 25, 2018, 12:40 pm

Hope some one can handle this group seemed promising

[BLANK] - January 25, 2018, 8:14 pm

I was wondering what happened to Ass@ssin, he PM me last week about writing an article for the group and never responded to my response to him. Now I know.

I think that is the main question here.

No one with the skill set needed to lead a group like this has a lot of spare time, at least not long term.

You would have been a good leader, like you said the only issue is time - shame about your wanking addiction.

Mad76e - January 26, 2018, 4:04 pm

How about 2 or 3 people that can cover up for eachother? Does it have to be 1 person?

Copywriter - January 26, 2018, 4:07 pm

He self-banned 6 months, I was quite surprised. He was a HQ helpful member in the whitehat section.
