Thread: Starting OSRS

ZeroOne - January 25, 2018, 1:56 pm

A friend of mine has talked me into picking up OSRS and I have decided that maybe I should considering I'm doing nothing with my life right now anyway.

I'll be starting from scratch and I won't be using any bots at all. Let's see how long it takes to max combat and finish all the quests that are essential for the account.

Fresh account update 1: (2 days of playing)

I managed to get 76 quest points.

My total levels add up to 515 I think, I logged out and forgot.

I got 43 prayer for protection prayers which should make questing a lot easier.

Considering the goal is to get barrows gloves asap, I am hoping I get 100 quest points tomorrow.

I've also put minimal effort into training skills, quests have given me 95% of the stats I currently have.

Update 2: 11 days playing OSRS

Barrows gloves achieved:

Future goals:

Fighter Torso

Lunar Diplomacy

Dragon Defender

Thank you! Hopefully, it'll be really fun. About to continue questing, I started yesterday.

a q p cape?

Not really, essential quests are the ones I'm going to get xp off of and use certain items from. Just things I need to start making gp.

"how long it takes to max combat"

I've always wanted to max combat but always get burned out, even if I'm doing NMZ.

I really don't think it's that hard. I'm just going to stick to slayer for training, it makes the grind a lot more fun specially if you get clue scrolls and if you get good drops at higher slayer levels. I'm still questing atm, I found it to be the easiest way to get levels when you start out.

I hope you like questing, because new accounts suck dick. Glad to see people still coming back to the game though.

I don't really like questing but it has to be done. These are two screenshots of yesterday's update!

Goodluck OP! It's going to take a long time to achieve those goals, but you can do it!

Thank you. I've achieved my goal of getting 100 quest points today, I even have a little more than 100 right now and doing some more quests before I head to bed!

Had to study for my finals for a couple of days which slowed down my progress, currently online and have done 2 quests so far and working on getting access to fairy rings before continuing the rest. Just doing the beginning of Fairy Tale II for that since I don't have the requirements to finish it. Hopefully I log out today with 130+ quest points!

It's been a while since I updated my progress thread so here is a look at my stats and quest points. I'm currently 62 combat and I should have barrows gloves tomorrow.

I recently powerhoused my main to max combat and avoided quests. I'll be doing quests now, up until about the point where you are. After that point, wanna do some quests together?

I really want to say yes but now, quests are gonna be a side thing for me. I wanna max combat right after I get my torso. PM me your rsn though so we could get in touch and I'll help you with a few quests.

How are you enjoying picking it back up? I just bought a bond today after a good 12 month+ break. Max melee, 1700 total, b gloves, torso, d defender, etc. I normally burn out and don't know what to do after a day or two but hopefully I can play longer this time around.

I think I'm enjoying it so much because my account was fresh and I had set a difficult goal to achieve early on. It was quite the challenge and very satisfying to achieve. Just keep setting goals that are challenging and you should be enjoying it more.
