Thread: [eXceptional \[uid=1160828\] Fake vouches?](#)

Hashflare - January 28, 2018, 10:20 am

I own a service where I do free favors for upgraded users. I got a message from eXceptional asking if I could vouch on his thread for the favor. I asked if I was going to receive the product because I don't believe in fake vouches, they're not good for business in general.

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

It appears he didn't care and decided to neg me because I didn't do his 'Favor'

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

I thought I misunderstood him because I didn't think someone who was Ub3r would so blatantly just ask for a fake vouch on his service without rendering the service so I asked him what he meant:

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

So for anyone looking into his Social Media services I would be careful and do your research and make sure he is offering what he advertises. :) ?

Why are you so concerned about your -3 I've lost all my reputation once and I'm not here for reputation. I give +reputation when people be good here on HF and also I give Negative when people misunderstand so quickly and make statements. I'm selling services here on HF since 2012, unlike other threads where a few sellers post on their threads themselves just to increase post count of the thread. You or anyone who is against my statements can go on my sales thread whenever they want to and ask anyone on my thread if the vouch is fake.

I'm repeating myself and asking you to do your homework. Check my threads before making a statement about me.

I don't care about my rep. I care about you as a user potentially scamming other users by faking people vouching for your products. I never asked when you started selling or your sob story about how you lost your rep. Play by the rules and you wont get exposed.

I didn't force you to vouch for me. You were doing favors and I asked if you could vouch. I didn't command you to vouch for me. You shouldn't do favors if you just simply deny in the end also about my sob story, I wrote it to let you know that you should do your homework before blaming someone. Ask anyone on my sales thread if the vouches are fake or not. I'm not wasting my time anymore on this shitty issue which you raised for HF members. No one is actually interested.

I never said you commanded me lmao? You have some issues man. This thread shows you ASK for fake vouches and that the vouches can not be trusted which then shows your service can barely be trusted since the users who said that it was good never used it lmao.

You realize that's not an argument that makes it okay for you to ask for vouches like that.

I'm sure if staff sees this they will have something to say as well :)

Exactly.

"You asked for a fake vouch."

"why are you mad about your -3??? I lost all my rep before. I'm a long time seller!!!"

When a service is offered on here, it must fall within the boundaries of whatever's in the Help Docs. Asking for a user to post a fake vouch is disallowed, regardless of your tenure and the services that you sell. While it doesn't violate any reputation policies, giving somebody a negative reputation for that reason is petty (and frankly, makes you look like an asshole).

Honestly I think Hashflare is wrong, favor is something which should be done without expecting or asking anything in return.

You should have mentioned in your favor thread that you will not do any vouches without testing the product. Just my opinion though. Asking for a vouch is nothing but asking for a favor from you.

@eXceptional doesn't need vouches I guess. He is already well reputed member of this forum.

This is just my opinion so don't neg rep me.

Lmao. So you want me to just write out all the rules on my thread? It is against the RULES to ask for a fake vouch and is just fucked in general. Also negging the person that said no is taking it a step further lmao. Leave.

Didn't expect your answer to be that rude. Being a staff you already have a few allegations on yourself. I do not appreciate such feedback on members who contribute their most time to HF. You need to learn what a favor is and then reply to the thread again about it and also replying to @HashFlare is just wasting my time here. If you still think this issue is worth giving some value then do take an action against me, don't just sit here and comment on what you think about me. I personally think you are taking advantage of your position.

You tried to get a undeserved fake vouch, and you failed. Blaming others for the stupidity is just dumb. Suck it up and move on, and face any actions against your HF account for doing so.

I did not go to him personally to just ask for a fake vouch. His thread stated he will do favors and I asked him if he could review my services. I still have the PM's I sent him.

Proof: <http://prntscr.com/i715fr> (You can ask OMNI to re-check this PM and see if this is not edited.)

I asked the member to write a review copy and not a fake vouch. This image above is my first PM sent to him in regards to his thread for doing favors in free giveaway section.

Now stop being a dumb and stop supporting this shit because I never asked for a fake vouch.

Kenjataimu - January 29, 2018, 12:46 am

I think you are both in the wrong here.

1.

OP didnt explain how he will only do white knight favors.

Then complains when someone asks him to do something grey/black hate. (Keep in mind this is a hacking forum and members used to be able to do a lot of shadier things)

Look at the e-whore section thats still running.

To add, OP is mostly doing his favor thread to earn reputation within hackforums. It makes OP look pretty LQ in my eyes, he tries to claim something is scummy when what he is doing himself is basically in the same category as asking for vouches.

2.

The user being accused asked for a product review, rather than just a vouch on character which is pretty scummy.

Complete Chat

First, I saw OP's thread in free giveaway section where he was doing favors for all Upgraded members of the forum.

His thread image \(Click to View\)

After I saw this thread I sent him a PM.

My First PM \(Click to View\)

Then he replied to me asking "I would be receiving the item correct? I don't write fake reviews." His reply on my First PM \(Click to View\)

Now, I'm not saying he's wrong at the point asking me for receiving the item but again if you guys read out my first PM, I clearly mentioned saying I need review copies which also means I'll be asking the member to specifically test my service and then review the product.

My free giveaway threads:

1. [\[SMM\] Free \$5.00 SocialDealers Panel Balance \[Limited Time Offer\]](#)
2. [\[HQ/Real\] 1000+ Instagram Likes Free - SocialDealers \[Limited Time Offer\]](#)

If I can give away $5.00 as panel balance then how would 1000+ Instagram likes will harm me when they cost $0.07 for just 1 person to review my service.

My intention was never to receive a fake vouch copy and the proof to that are the above giveaway threads. These chats were done when I am already giving away vouch copies to people in the free giveaway section.

OP took this chat in a wrong direction and also a few HF members who missed the chat and thought that I was asking for free vouch copy without giving them the services.

This just shows that you asked for 2 vouches in which you said you weren't going to give the product or service to. I don't care about your free giveaways nor do I care about any of the other stuff that you randomly shit out as a defense. You asked for me to leave a fake vouch/review without rendering the product or service which is against the rules.

How can anyone honestly argue that asking for a review of your product without giving a review copy of the product. Its just asinine. You'd think someone who has been on HF since 2012 would know better.
