

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: I Need To Build A Site For My Blog

SIM-3051398 - January 30, 2018, 2:44 am

So I have this idea for a blog type site. The site needs to be able to have a homepage which will show new articles written and new news that is trending related to the site, Needs to have easy use for the basic user. Would like if this was able to be mobile and desktop friendly. What would be the best way to make this site, I already have hosting that came with a cpanel along with the domain just need to know what would be the best way to make the site since im not very smart when it comes to HTML.

her0. - January 30, 2018, 2:49 am

WordPress. Comes with thousands of free and paid themes, easy to manage UI etc.

SIM-3051398 - January 30, 2018, 2:57 am

(Jan 30, 2018 03:49 AM)her0. Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) WordPress. Comes with thousands of free and paid themes, easy to manage UI etc.

Thank you, are there any templates or themes you would suggest?

her0. - January 30, 2018, 4:05 am

It's all personal preference. Take a look at the themes tab upon installing WordPress, you can filter by downloads, reviews etc. That might point you to the right direction.

Nachfolger - January 30, 2018, 5:16 am

As mentioned, this is the one acceptable use case for wordpress or any bloated blogging software.

SIM-3051398 - January 30, 2018, 5:50 am

(Jan 30, 2018 06:16 AM)Nachfolger Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) As mentioned, this is the one acceptable use case for wordpress or any bloated blogging software.

does wordpress give the ability to create sub-pages off of the homepage, along with the option to sign up for a newsletter? Sorry im really dumb ive never handled this part before.

Nachfolger - January 30, 2018, 8:10 am

(Jan 30, 2018 06:50 AM)Cubruh Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) does wordpress give the ability to create sub-pages off of the homepage, along with the option to sign up for a newsletter? Sorry im really dumb ive never handled this part before. Only used wordpress a few years back before I knew how to make my own sites. So I have no idea, it's just a CMS so I imagine you can add that functionality. As for the mailing list, just use MailChimp or make your own system, not that hard.

Rushax - January 30, 2018, 10:12 am

(Jan 30, 2018 06:50 AM)Cubruh Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) does wordpress give the ability to create sub-pages off of the homepage, along with the option to sign up for a newsletter? Sorry im really dumb ive never handled this part before.

Yes WordPress does give you this ability to do both of these but make sure you're installing WordPress from your hosting provider and not by going to WordPress.com.

Installing plugins (although I discourage it) is probably best suited for you.