

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: IRL/Online Buisness

Motley - January 30, 2018, 9:11 pm

So I had this idea to start my own IT Service business. Building computers, fixing computers, optimization, cleaning, installs, basically anything that you could need done to your system. I'm thinking about making a remote help option, like what Best Buy or Microsoft does. So does anyone have any suggestions for me, anything I can do to draw customers, any suggestions would be great.

??Zèb* - January 30, 2018, 9:14 pm

Well if you do online support do not use paypal, all disputes will be won.

You can always do URL hijackers lol.

Otherwise advertisement unless mainly local won't be easy. Act bigger then you are.

Motley - January 30, 2018, 9:15 pm

(Jan 30, 2018 10:14 PM)??Zèb* Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Well if you do online support do not use paypal, all disputes will be won.

You can always do URL hijackers lol.

Otherwise advertisement unless mainly local won't be easy. Act bigger then you are.

I'm trying to create a legitimate business, not scam people.

??Zèb* - January 30, 2018, 9:32 pm

I'm aware, but PayPal doesn't support online support in anyway. So anyone could get there money back even if you did real work

It's in the terms. Sorry I worded it wrong before.

Motley - January 30, 2018, 9:40 pm

(Jan 30, 2018 10:32 PM)??Zèb* Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I'm aware, but PayPal doesn't support online support in anyway. So anyone could get there money back even if you did real work

It's in the terms. Sorry I worded it wrong before.

Oh, ok. Thank you, actually useful information.