Just a quick Illustration to add to my portfolio, doesn't really server any other purpose,

Let me know what you guys think ?

I love it because of its minimalistic style and its so clean and simple. ?

Pretty nice if you are getting started. I could definitely see you getting better and improving your pen skills and eventually making logos if that's your goal. Keep practising!

If anything, the intersect with the lines, could use some work.

I quickly updated it on Behance after somebody commented,

And I'm not exactly getting started, this was more of just a 15 minute design to test out some of my new colour pallets and gradients :)

Ah I like that one. Would be cool to see it integrated in a logo-name. Having it represent a 'C' or something.

But obviously you're just playing around with it.

Nice Idea :)

I might re-make this one, maybe as a silver wolf in the letter C

To test your site.

Uhhhhh

What? ?

Did you mean to post that here?

enmafia2 - January 31, 2018, 11:27 am

Good job would definitely use it, looks professional

The second, orange one is better imo. Very minimalistic with a few more details or accesories I can see it be an ad for some big serious like company that wants to look organic to the public. That's my feedback. Good luck
