AUTHENTICATE MAGAZINE Release: #1 EDITION Read it NOW <-----

RELEASE:

Dear HackForums community, I am please to release the very first edition of the Authenticate Magazine by Security or as we call it "Auth".

Authenticate is a small magazine reviewing recent news linked to computer security and more. This has been an ongoing project for just over three weeks created by Assass@in and myself, written by the Redaction Team of the security group.

The Redaction team consists of:

AsSaSs@iN Malware Report & Windows Security

The Worker Leader & Magazine Layout Designer

?BowmanBot? International Security

Kuudere Coders Report

Thomas Shelby Crypto Currency Reporter

Aerodactyl Editor & Grammar Nazi

I'd like to thank all the people that have helped us made Auth Mag a reality, also a special thanks to Divined and Sigma who have always been supportive of the project.

Of course thanks to the incredible team for respecting deadlines, which I think, is a remarkable feat in a group today.

The magazine was designed in Adobe InDesign & Photoshop and is hosted on mixtape.mo.

You can read the magazine online by clicking this link or the image above :

<https://my.mixtape.moe/mqdrkm.pdf> We'd love to hear your feedback ! Post your thoughts on the threads so that we can improve future publications.

If you would like to join the Authenticate Team you can apply here: [\[SECURITY\] Authenticate Magazine - Official HF Group Recruitment #2](#)

Here is a little preview: Spoiler \(Click to View\)

You can also wear this small button in your signature to support Authenticate Mag:

This looks nice. Will update this after reading.

Really nice initiative by the way ?

Update:

I took some time to read it and find issues related to this security magazine. It's kinda ok for first edition but you guys need to become more professional because right now it looks like a job done in hurry.

Some tips that you can consider.

1. Please avoid 2 page layout, it looks messy on mobile. specially with PDF version. (Try to make epub available as well)
2. Please avoid using random images or copy pasted logos (for example check last page)
3. Please don't use random background colors.
4. Please don't use random places for Header (page 14,15) I mean come on make a professional layout and stick with it. @ The Worker don't do all work yourself bro, get a designer in your team so he can make custom graphics and make this magazine unique.
5. Consider making a website and a option to subscribe. I'm pretty sure those who are not on HF would like to read it and will prefer to get updates whenever next issue comes out.
6. More content is required.
7. Fill the blank spaces.. get some adverts from HF marketplace, even if you have to do it for free for few edition's.

Let me know if you need some help.

Nice work everyone! I am really happy with how this turned out.

Zinedine Zidane - February 1, 2018, 7:48 am

Good job fam !

I particularly liked the crypto report written by Thomas

This was a really great read! Phenomenal job don't by all of you. Wait until the users read about the Pikachu virus.. ?

Vitani - February 1, 2018, 8:16 am

Just read a few articles from the magazine and I'm very impressed! You're on top of the latest developments and the content is great!
I'm looking forward to more editions.

Ghost.13 - February 1, 2018, 8:23 am

Skimmed through it for now because I'm about to hit the bed, but I'm definitely gonna read it tomorrow.

Good job for the very first edition of the very first HF magazine.

CyberStrike - February 1, 2018, 8:25 am

Downlaoded and starting to read it now:

First it looks very good, professional also the writing itself is easy to understand while still technical. The article on process doppleganger is right on and quite relevant, also dissection of the attack is right on also excellent thing with adding to the unpacke (PackerAttacker) and extending to it. Usually I tend to start out in linux when dealing with windows malware just to see whats going on then I move on to a VM . Good stuff I really like reading it, you guys keep up the good work well done.

M?xim - February 1, 2018, 8:29 am

Such a shame that you are not hosting the content on the forum. It seems like a HF community project but it can never get true support from the forum (in the form of a subforum etc.) if you are hosting it off-site. Shame, really. Such a great SEO booster it could be.

We'd love to host it on-site, maybe Omni can come up with something when Authenticate becomes bigger.

'Ben - February 1, 2018, 9:00 am

I'll be honest, I'm not one for reading magazines and doubt I ever will be. I opened it up anyway just to give it a glance.

From a presentation perspective, it looks great. Everything is laid out nicely, easy to tell when one section ends and another begins.

10/10 for layout/design, keep it up

Thank you for your review. Would there be any topic that you would like us to add in order to make you interested in reading?

Sigma - February 1, 2018, 11:08 am

I'm glad everyone likes it so far. If anyone has any ideas on how to make it better, or what they want to see in the next one; feel free to PM me.

Divined - February 1, 2018, 11:09 am

Great job guys, excited to see this.

Hydraxus - February 1, 2018, 11:09 am

Looks great, at some point in par with HF News. Quite professional I'd say, will be reading more in a little bit when I get the chance.

[BLANK] - February 1, 2018, 11:12 am

For a first issue it looks good. I would say that there could be a bit more uniformity between sections. While I think each section on its own looks good and has some flashy art and style, it is not uniform from page to page. It left me feeling some sections had more effort put into them than others.

As far as overall content, I think all the sections had relevant information which was summarized in a way that even lay people could understand. Some sections naturally grabbed my attention more than others (which I am sure is true for most people) but overall solid contributions from all the writers. I am sure the magazine will only get better as new issues are released.

Super - February 1, 2018, 12:20 pm

Great work! This is so well put-together, and there's some fantastic articles in there (I was glad to see Assassin calling out those bogus "registry cleaners"!)

I'll definitely be keeping an eye on this project. Keep up the great content.

@vincent - February 1, 2018, 12:28 pm

Magazine seems nice, will read it tonight. Good idea and definitely something I am interested in :)

I f*cking love this entire concept, if any community can pull something like this off, it is us.
But as I noted in a PM, I feel we need more content for the thing.

Its well done, but way too short of a read, honestly speaking.

Maybe more contributors would help?

For this issue we were missing the following positions:

Mobile Security
Mac Security
Website Security

We are still looking for members to fill those positions as well as the ones that were done by Assass@in as he will not be contributing anymore.

Well, Hack Forums News is mostly based on events that happen on the site, this is completely external. Both have their niches and I believe both do very well with their jobs. However, there is always room for improvement.

Thanks for the report, but there are few things that bugged me during the read, so here we go:

1- Stick to a single page view, don't force me to have 2 pages side by side, and if you do 2 pages, then stick to it, and to its width. You can see the first few pages are side by side, then there's the crypto report single page, then couple more side by side pages (that have larger width than the first ones), then back to single pages.

2- Check out this image: <https://imgur.com/a/w2B5x> looks like you need to do some more reviewing before publish to find the missing links.

Well, if you make 2 pages spread, I suggest you stick to it, don't insert a single page in the middle, and make it the same width for all pages, those inconsistency stuff gives me weird feeling when reading. The small final touches are pretty important to end users.

.Pazuzu - February 2, 2018, 1:31 pm

Really cool that the site has this, but it should probably have been proof-read.

First page:

Quote:Dear reader,

First of all thank you for taking the time to read the very first edition of Authenticate Magazine by the Security group. This project started as an idea while speaking with Assass@in and myself (The Worker).

While reading Authenticate you will be aware of the latest news concerning website security, computer security, cryptocurrency, coding and much more. We are a small team taking some time off our real life to write about subjects we are passionated about to keep you updated and maybe teach you something you didn't know, well that would be the MUST for us, helping members learn something new.

This being the first Edition we are still learning how to come up with an interesting magazine and how to deliver it as we idealize it. I'd like to thank all the people that have been involved in helping Auth all the way to its release. We have seen people come and go and unfortunately we weren't able to write about all the different subjects Authenticate was suppose to cover. I still hope you will be able to appreciate the

material that has made into the finished product and that you will be inspired to contribute for the next releases.

The magazine will be released every month and should see an increase of topics and contributors with time.

The content creators have written every article themselves and they were then submitted to the editors that corrected all the mistakes and formatted them to make it easier for you, the reader to understand.

Everything was then posted in the sub-forums and my job was to create the entire design of the Magazine and to create visual themes around each topic written by the content creators. I guess you understand this wasn't an easy task and that hours have gone into this project. I insist again on the fact that we count on you to want to contribute and become a part of the Magazine; the Security group will always have its doors open to people that desire to be involved in its development. I hope you will be able to appreciate the visual aspect of the Magazine. I will never be able to thank enough, my dear Authenticate Magazine team for following the project till the end and encouraging me to get the work done.

We don't claim to have made something fantastic but we are just happy and proud to share with you something we all wanted to accomplish. If you are a grammar nazi and find any spelling mistake or have something to say to improve this edition, please do and I'll update it accordingly.

Enough of me talking, I hope you have a good read and if you enjoyed it we encourage you to drop us a comment on the thread.

Kind regards,

Thank for the awesome magazine

Thank you for your kind words!

(Feb 5, 2018 09:43 AM)FiftyTwo Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Read through some of this the other day.

I plan on reading this regularly actually; quite interesting.

Good job guys!

This has been an interesting project to take on. We are listening to the feedback everyone has giving us and will be implementing some of them into the next issue.

Thank you for reading!
