Sadly I heard some things from you which eventually turned out to be true.. hope this speculation is not one of them

The fact that governments and corporations are actively trying to deter its people from using Bitcoin is a sign that Bitcoin had/has/will have lasting & positive political, social, and economical impacts on the world. Never thought I'd say this ironically, but this is good for Bitcoin, even if the price does plummet.

Exactly how I feel. When you put aside your personal investments, governments actively taking an interest in crypto just goes to show its potential.

Cyber Coder - February 5, 2018, 4:33 am i wouldnt be surprised , we had a good run, hope that most of you took advantage of it i feel like the governments want to take advance of blockchains for themselves but without letting the average person taking advantage of it

Chief Turbo - February 5, 2018, 4:37 am

they are just trying to stop btc
they can't though

Bitcoin (and all other crypto) we all get back together eventually.

All the media keeps saying it's a bubble, but why hasnt it popped yet when basically all the media + banks over the whole world are talking shit about crypto?

If the media would talk shit about banks they wouldnt survive it for even a week.

Cryptocurrency can and will survive this "crash" dont need to believe anyone, all coins were overbought and over hyped, look at facts, look how many bad news appear weekly , as btc went from 1k to 20k , it can go back just as fast even those that still have money invested (like me) try to ignore these facts and wish for a better price

i`m just wondering what effect does this have on miners and how will they react n31ght0 - November 27, 2018, 2:57 am

i'm back glad to know it officially 3k now

Crypto is a good idea if you dollar link it and keep the money in a nationally chartered bank with 100% reserves
Crypto is a useful tech, but not bitcoin and not by the players in charge
I think after it bottoms.. whenever that is the PUPPETEERS will move it up again

Why not? In the past we was at 34 and down to 12, from 1200 to 110. Isn't it same thing over and over?

If anyone believed bitcoin was going down you'll are so wrong, bitcoin had already bottomed out at 3k and it was the perfect time to hodl it and buy it. It has already crossed 4300$ and is now slowly and steadily rising upwards. Bakkt is coming in January and Nasdq Bitcoin futures 2.0 is coming to. Ohio goverment is accepting it as business taxes, people bitcoin rally has began it's yet not to late to jump in and buy and hodl it.

Hey bitcoin prices were stable for quiet a while now, it was the foolish bch war which led to falling prices in bitcoins, the bottoming was at 3k and now if you'll see it'll keep on rising daily. Soon 6k levels shall come and with bakkt and nasdaq futures 10 - 15k in btc prices is coming.

Yeah as of recently the bitcoin has been dropping. I am not saying that it has always been.

jonesd558 - November 29, 2018, 5:15 am

Yes got you like i said it was because of the civil war between bch people, they had directed bitcoin hash to mine bch, and panic sellers have exited the market, from now on as i am seeing there's only good news for bitcoins. If it maintains this rate by feb or march 10 - 15k will come. This is a good time to add it in dips.

Zamper - November 29, 2018, 9:07 am

I bought bitcoin when it was 20k and also buying now when its 4k. And if it drops to 3k or 1k I will keep buying.

Once you understand the blockchain and the potential of this technology then you understand that this is a WAR -

REAL MONEY (BTC) - VS FAKE PRINTED MONEY.

We are getting closer to the date that banks & governments lose control over the financial system, that day will be epic and BTC will go to the moon pushing the whole market including (alt coins) going to rise.
