Hey guys, i don't consider myself a gamer so that's why i ask this question, although i played a lot of WoW, Cod back in the old days etc but i had to quit and focus more on life goals, anyway...

But i kind of got into the idea of starting to stream on twitch and so on.

Right away FaZe Clan from youtube popped into my head.

How hard is it to actually get on the level where FaZe Clan is on youtube in terms of subscribers, their lifestyle and such since they don't even post gaming videos on their youtube channel anymore - and how much would you rate their skill in playing games like cod and cs go at all?

I'm talking of FaZe Rug, FaZe Banks and more popular FaZe members of FaZe.

They are still very good in COD/CS:GO. But their lifestyle evolved thanks to the money they earned.
A lifestyle many people like to follow.

There are only 3 ways a gamer can get popular on youtube/twitch

1. Be entertaining
2. Be good as fuck. MLG Shit.
3. Be educational. Know everything about the game. Teach people.

Or have a shit ton of cash you can show off and show tits with expensive cars.
